

Today

Wall St. Cleans House
Bigger, Brighter Suns
Britain's Little Worry
A Mother From Greece

By Arthur Brisbane
LAST WEEK, one good-sized firm went overboard in Wall Street, and yesterday, a Philadelphia firm, with numerous branches in Pennsylvania, misfired.
Some stocks will whither and sell their ticks down near the bottom, whereas they should have thought about setting up near the top, and should now be discussing buying more.
Mr. R. F. G., an intelligent young observer, says the man who lost money in Wall Street in 1929, or since, feels like the mouse in a trap, baited with very nice cheese. The cheese no longer attracted the mouse, who said: "No thank you, the cheese. Let me out of the trap."

Bankers who know what is going on say that the bad news is not in Wall Street, and that there is something more to worry about now.

One thing is certain. The brightest days we ever have seen are, perhaps, compared with bright days that are coming. There is already "something brighter."

Dr. Shapley, for instance, head of Harvard Observatory, says the stars are again in space 40,000 times as radiant as our sun, and significant that their disaster is 268,000,000 miles.

There is brightness for you. Yet time will pass, and before you know it, the lust of prices on the stock ticker tape will look brighter than all the stars put together, to the wise man who invests conservatively, and does not gamble, now that prices are down.

Philip Snowden, Britain's chucky Chancellor of the Exchequer, came from the House of Commons to tell of his plans for the 1931-32 Budget. The British worry about a deficit of $118,850,000.

What would they say, and how would they worry, if they had our deficit of $900,000,000? They would be worried, and the government is going on paying off bonds ahead of time, and it is under no obligation to do so, and when any such common sense would control the resources to a government.

The British Chancellor says there will be no increase in taxes, because he knows that the poor man votes.

Also as a wise Wall Street professional remarks: "It is a good thing to have those incidents happen. Everybody has been talking about them and knowing about them. Some brokers are getting wealthy, acting as investment bankers, forming investment trusts, selling them to their customers and carrying them, for their customers. Of course, they have to suffer."

Everybody has heard of Spartan courage, and remember the Spartan boy who stole a young pig and hid it under his clothes, and never murmured while the gnat gnawed at his vital.

That ancient courage survives in Mrs. Mary Ellis, born in Florida, now of Chicago. She has a child five years old and doctors said a blood transfusion was necessary to save the child's life. "Take my blood," said the mother, and the doctors did. A few hours later, the same mother gave birth to another daughter. The five-year-old child is doing well, it is the mother, so is the new baby.

Sir Edward Clark, British lawyer, died at 90, wrote his own obituary, saying he had a "lucky, happy life." It was also a prosperous life. London was amazed to hear that Sir Edward had averaged earnings of $900,000 a year for 17 years, and that the unparalleled sum of $1,300,000 was his net worth.

Nothing "unparalleled" about that, Louis Levy, piano player, told you. He said he had seen about one law suit in which he had "won" that "unparalleled" sum, and he did not work himself to death either.

Another lawyer, well known, reading by request a trust document prepared for the late of a rich woman, said after reading it: "Excellent, done, nothing to suggest $100,000, please. And get it."

Calvin Coolidge, sympathizing with men in public life, from the fact that he has been so much maligned, reminds you that officials are often accused unjustly.
He reminds you that Chancellor Kent wrote, back in 1849: "I think we have in Washington the meanest, mean, malignant, and meanest and most evil-doing crew of creatures that ever were doomed to create a republic."

Coolidge adds: "Yet the country not only survived, but the government of that day is now being made up of men of our most brilliant statesmen."

GRAND JURY'S REMOVAL

BRVES PHILLIES

WEATHER

Fair and not quite so cool to night and Wednesday; diminishing westerly winds.
High tide, 5:13 a. m.; 5:00 p. m.
Sun sets, 6:45; sets, 7:38.
Light air variable at 5:00 p. m.

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

A HOME PAPER FOR THE PEOPLE WHO THINK
VOL. 28—No. 31 Published Daily by H. H. Newspaper Pub. Co.
BOSTON, TUESDAY, APRIL 28, 1931 2 CENTS FOREIGN 3 CENTS

STOCKS RACE

The American is the only Boston daily paper using Universal Service and International News Service.

LATE NEWS FLASHES RACE RESULTS—SPORTS

NATIONAL LEAGUE

Braves 1 3
Phillies 2
Batteries—Cantwell and Spolner; H. Elliott, Watt, Davis
Brooklyn 0 9
New York 0 2
Batteries—Clark and Lopez; Mitchell and Hogan

BASEBALL GAMES POSTPONED

At Fenway Park—Red Sox-Athletics, cold weather
At Cincinnati—Chicago, postponed out of respect to memory of Garry Hermann

BOSTON STUDENT LOSES LEGS UNDER TRAIN

Francis P. Driscoll, 17, of Jefferson st., Mattok, a student at Northeastern University, lost both his legs beneath the wheels of a Framingham-bound train at Trinity pl. station this afternoon. Driscoll, witnesses said, attempted to board the train while it was in motion. He was taken to Massachusetts General Hospital, where it is expected he will die.

LYNCHING THREATS MADE AT SLAIN GIRL'S FUNERAL

Hampden, Ct., April 28—Threats to lynch the slayers of 20-year-old Emily Kirk were freely voiced by townspeople at the funeral of the girl who was killed in a little country cemetery here this afternoon. These remarks are indicative of the feeling in the community, members of which are aroused by the murder as never before. The victim's mother was too much affected to leave her automobile at the cemetery and her husband remained in the car with her.

ARMOUR ADOPTS FIVE-DAY WEEK

Kansas City, Kan., April 28—Armour & Co. today announced a five-day week schedule for the packing plant's 3400 employees. The new schedule will not affect the output or the earnings of the employees.

FORD'S WAGE SCALE TO STAY UP

New York, April 28 (AP)—The Wall Street Journal, in a special dispatch from Detroit, today said there will be no deflation of labor by the Ford Motor Co. as an aftermath to the depression, nor are there likely to be any wage cuts by the manufacturing concerns that are employed on Ford work.

HONDURAN REVOLT REPORTED CRUSHED

Washington, April 28 (INS)—Conditions in Honduras have quieted and federal troops have the revolution under control, Admiral Arthur St. C. Smith reported to the Navy Department today.

CATALONIA DEMANDS SEPARATE FREEDOM

Barcelona, April 28 (INS)—Catalonia will be satisfied with nothing less than "complete freedom in a Spanish federation, Francisco Macia, leader of the separatists, declared today.

U. S. "SWINDLED" OF $2,000,000 ON P. O. SITE

Chicago, April 28 (INS)—The old site of the Chicago postoffice, for which the government paid $4,425,000, was worth only $2,535,000, Henry G. Geisler, appraiser, today told the Senate subcommittee investigating losses.

CERMAK BARS CHICAGO CRIME PLAYS AND PICTURES

Chicago, April 28 (AP)—Mayor Cermak, in the first definite announcement of policy since his inauguration, declared today all plays and moving pictures showing Chicago as a crime-ridden city would be suppressed.

PANTAGES ATTACKS INQUIRY

San Diego, Cal., April 28 (INS)—Pleading not guilty to all counts charging him with contributing to the delinquency of Lydia Nitto, Hollywood girl, Alexander Pantages, multi-millionaire, today attacked the validity of a love mat investigation.

KING OF SIAM ON TRAIN FOR WASHINGTON

Port Chester, N. Y., April 28 (INS)—King Prajadhipok, and Queen Rambai Barni of Siam left on a special train today for Washington.

RACE RESULTS AT PIMLICO

(Early Races on Page 19; Race Schedules on Page 20)
1-Way Plane 5.10, 3.70, 2.90; Westvity 37.30, 19.60; Flaming Mamie 4.40
(More Results in Racing Final)

BAGGAGE BULLET USED AT TRAIL

CITY WELFARE AGENT SUSPENDED

Action Is Taken After Woman Becomes Hysterical at Overseas Quarters
William R. G. Doyle, an investigator for the Overseas of the Public Welfare, has been suspended since last Friday. It was learned today.

He was suspended after a woman had become hysterical at the headquarters of the Overseas, Charles and Howard st., Boston, and had threatened to kill him.

Doyle is the man who is in charge of the welfare of the city's poor. He was suspended after a woman had become hysterical at the headquarters of the Overseas, Charles and Howard st., Boston, and had threatened to kill him.

Doyle is the man who is in charge of the welfare of the city's poor. He was suspended after a woman had become hysterical at the headquarters of the Overseas, Charles and Howard st., Boston, and had threatened to kill him.

Doyle is the man who is in charge of the welfare of the city's poor. He was suspended after a woman had become hysterical at the headquarters of the Overseas, Charles and Howard st., Boston, and had threatened to kill him.

Doyle is the man who is in charge of the welfare of the city's poor. He was suspended after a woman had become hysterical at the headquarters of the Overseas, Charles and Howard st., Boston, and had threatened to kill him.

Doyle is the man who is in charge of the welfare of the city's poor. He was suspended after a woman had become hysterical at the headquarters of the Overseas, Charles and Howard st., Boston, and had threatened to kill him.

Doyle is the man who is in charge of the welfare of the city's poor. He was suspended after a woman had become hysterical at the headquarters of the Overseas, Charles and Howard st., Boston, and had threatened to kill him.

Doyle is the man who is in charge of the welfare of the city's poor. He was suspended after a woman had become hysterical at the headquarters of the Overseas, Charles and Howard st., Boston, and had threatened to kill him.

Doyle is the man who is in charge of the welfare of the city's poor. He was suspended after a woman had become hysterical at the headquarters of the Overseas, Charles and Howard st., Boston, and had threatened to kill him.

Doyle is the man who is in charge of the welfare of the city's poor. He was suspended after a woman had become hysterical at the headquarters of the Overseas, Charles and Howard st., Boston, and had threatened to kill him.

Doyle is the man who is in charge of the welfare of the city's poor. He was suspended after a woman had become hysterical at the headquarters of the Overseas, Charles and Howard st., Boston, and had threatened to kill him.

Doyle is the man who is in charge of the welfare of the city's poor. He was suspended after a woman had become hysterical at the headquarters of the Overseas, Charles and Howard st., Boston, and had threatened to kill him.

Doyle is the man who is in charge of the welfare of the city's poor. He was suspended after a woman had become hysterical at the headquarters of the Overseas, Charles and Howard st., Boston, and had threatened to kill him.

Doyle is the man who is in charge of the welfare of the city's poor. He was suspended after a woman had become hysterical at the headquarters of the Overseas, Charles and Howard st., Boston, and had threatened to kill him.

Doyle is the man who is in charge of the welfare of the city's poor. He was suspended after a woman had become hysterical at the headquarters of the Overseas, Charles and Howard st., Boston, and had threatened to kill him.

Doyle is the man who is in charge of the welfare of the city's poor. He was suspended after a woman had become hysterical at the headquarters of the Overseas, Charles and Howard st., Boston, and had threatened to kill him.

Doyle is the man who is in charge of the welfare of the city's poor. He was suspended after a woman had become hysterical at the headquarters of the Overseas, Charles and Howard st., Boston, and had threatened to kill him.

Doyle is the man who is in charge of the welfare of the city's poor. He was suspended after a woman had become hysterical at the headquarters of the Overseas, Charles and Howard st., Boston, and had threatened to kill him.

UNFIT FOR JOB, SAYS JURY

Removal of the Bank Commissioner Demanded as Grand Jury Finishes Its Inquiry
Removal of Bank Commissioner Arthur Guy as "not a proper person to hold that important office" was recommended today by the Middlesex County grand jury following its investigation into the bankruptcy of Guy L. Vaughan, missing for a month.

Immediately following the grand jury's report to Superior Court, the Middlesex County grand jury, which was composed of 12 members, recommended that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office.

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

PAINTER OF VAUGHAN BARE; GUY DENOUNCED

Removal of the Bank Commissioner Demanded as Grand Jury Finishes Its Inquiry
Removal of Bank Commissioner Arthur Guy as "not a proper person to hold that important office" was recommended today by the Middlesex County grand jury following its investigation into the bankruptcy of Guy L. Vaughan, missing for a month.

Immediately following the grand jury's report to Superior Court, the Middlesex County grand jury, which was composed of 12 members, recommended that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office.

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

The grand jury's recommendation that Guy L. Vaughan be removed from office was based on the fact that the grand jury had found that Vaughan was "unfit for his office."

Removal of Bank Commissioner Arthur Guy from office as "not a proper person to hold that important office" was recommended today by the Middlesex County grand jury following its investigation into the bankruptcy of Guy L. Vaughan, missing for a month.

STEEL ORDERS TWO WOMEN ARE HURT IN CRASH

Two women, one the blind wife of a steel worker, were killed and the other injured when a steam locomotive crashed into a car in the city of New York today.

The crash occurred at the intersection of 10th and 11th sts. in the city of New York today. The locomotive was traveling north on 10th st. and the car was traveling east on 11th st.

The crash occurred at the intersection of 10th and 11th sts. in the city of New York today. The locomotive was traveling north on 10th st. and the car was traveling east on 11th st.

The crash occurred at the intersection of 10th and 11th sts. in the city of New York today. The locomotive was traveling north on 10th st. and the car was traveling east on 11th st.

The crash occurred at the intersection of 10th and 11th sts. in the city of New York today. The locomotive was traveling north on 10th st. and the car was traveling east on 11th st.

Continued on Page 2, Column 2

Continued on Page 2, Column 2

Continued on Page 2, Column 2

Continued on Page 2, Column 2

Continued on Page 2, Column 2

Continued on Page 2, Column 2

Continued on Page 2, Column 2

Continued on Page 2, Column 2

Continued on Page 2, Column 2

Continued on Page 2, Column 2

Continued on Page 2, Column 2

Continued on Page 2, Column 2

Continued on Page 2, Column 2

Continued on Page 2, Column 2

Continued on Page 2, Column 2

Continued on Page 2, Column 2

Continued on Page 2, Column 2

Continued on Page 2, Column 2

MRS. CAMERON MADE 'DATE' OF APPREHENSION, SAYS WOMAN

25 AUTO RIDES TO BE OF LOVE SUIT

Somerville Saxophone Player, Fighting Back, Tells of the Husband's 'Parties'

At least 25 or 30 occasions on which Mrs. Cameron returned home in automobiles late at night were described today by Mrs. Nellie Kenney in Wallace K. Cameron's suit for divorce in Middlesex Probate Court.

Mrs. Kenney, who occupies the apartment above that of the Cameron at 27 Powder House Blvd., Somerville, also told of listening in with Cameron on a tapped telephone line in the cellar while she said Mrs. Cameron made a date with an unidentified man.

"I heard cars stop in front of the house on numerous occasions," she said, "and I recognized on these Mrs. Cameron enter the back door."

This happened at least 25 or 30 times.

WIFE FIGHTS CHARGES

"Once I went into the cellar of the house with Mr. Cameron and listened in on a tapped line while she made a date with a man," Mrs. Kenney said, "I was fighting the divorce suit and has filed a counter-suit charging 'infidelity,' testified that on two occasions when she had been accused by her husband she had met men acquainted openly and for innocent reasons."

One, she said, a friend had picked her up when she was waiting for a street car and taken her to an entertainment where she was appearing as a professional saxophone player.

Again she had gone to visit an acquaintance to obtain reads for her saxophone, she testified.

"PARTY" WITH GIRLS

Another witness was Edward A. Reed, occupant of an apartment next door to that of the Camerons, who was called to the door August 20, 1929, when Mrs. Cameron was alleged "wild parties" at the Camerons.

He testified that on that night Mrs. Cameron was with a group of girls and a man.

"I went there one night," he testified, "and saw a bottle of champagne and a couple of bottles of beer, and I saw a man."

Silk Merchant Is Taken by Death

Charles H. Beattie, for a member of the firm of Beattie & McGee, silk merchants, of 29 Temple St., died today at his home, 100 Montvale ave., West Roxbury.

He was born in Boston August 25, 1868, and came to this country when young.

He was a member of the Columbian club of Worcester, Boston City club, and the Charitable Association of Boston.

He was married to Sarah P. Beattie, and four daughters survive him.

Wales to Try Role of Cattle Salesman

London, April 28.—John Bull's tale-teller will sell some fine cattle to Italians.

The Prince of Wales is to exhibit stock at the Milan Fair.

In Paris today the Prince of Wales and his brother visited President Doumergue, who sent representatives to their place to the prince will try to come tomorrow from the British Isles.

Disheartened Gold Seekers Quit Field

Mazatlan, Mexico, April 28 (AP).—Stories of great suffering among prospectors in the new gold fields near El Tambo, Sinaloa, have brought here by disheartened men who are abandoning efforts to make a fortune and are returning home.

Chilled Stenog Turns Gun on Boss and Self

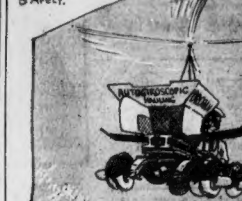

Mexico City, April 28 (AP).—A chilled stenographer turned the gun on his boss and himself today.

Indian War Vets. Eligible for Aid

Governor Ely today signed a bill extending the benefits of state and military aid and soldier's relief to veterans of Indian wars or campaigns.

Autogiros for All

Autogiro seems to solve the problem of a fool-proof plane that anybody can fly safely.

Captain Autogiro for Little Victor Jr.

"I heard cars stop in front of the house on numerous occasions," she said, "and I recognized on these Mrs. Cameron enter the back door."

This happened at least 25 or 30 times.

WIFE FIGHTS CHARGES

"Once I went into the cellar of the house with Mr. Cameron and listened in on a tapped line while she made a date with a man," Mrs. Kenney said, "I was fighting the divorce suit and has filed a counter-suit charging 'infidelity,' testified that on two occasions when she had been accused by her husband she had met men acquainted openly and for innocent reasons."

One, she said, a friend had picked her up when she was waiting for a street car and taken her to an entertainment where she was appearing as a professional saxophone player.

Again she had gone to visit an acquaintance to obtain reads for her saxophone, she testified.

"PARTY" WITH GIRLS

Another witness was Edward A. Reed, occupant of an apartment next door to that of the Camerons, who was called to the door August 20, 1929, when Mrs. Cameron was alleged "wild parties" at the Camerons.

He testified that on that night Mrs. Cameron was with a group of girls and a man.

"I went there one night," he testified, "and saw a bottle of champagne and a couple of bottles of beer, and I saw a man."

Silk Merchant Is Taken by Death

Charles H. Beattie, for a member of the firm of Beattie & McGee, silk merchants, of 29 Temple St., died today at his home, 100 Montvale ave., West Roxbury.

He was born in Boston August 25, 1868, and came to this country when young.

He was a member of the Columbian club of Worcester, Boston City club, and the Charitable Association of Boston.

He was married to Sarah P. Beattie, and four daughters survive him.

Wales to Try Role of Cattle Salesman

London, April 28.—John Bull's tale-teller will sell some fine cattle to Italians.

The Prince of Wales is to exhibit stock at the Milan Fair.

In Paris today the Prince of Wales and his brother visited President Doumergue, who sent representatives to their place to the prince will try to come tomorrow from the British Isles.

Disheartened Gold Seekers Quit Field

Mazatlan, Mexico, April 28 (AP).—Stories of great suffering among prospectors in the new gold fields near El Tambo, Sinaloa, have brought here by disheartened men who are abandoning efforts to make a fortune and are returning home.

Chilled Stenog Turns Gun on Boss and Self

Mexico City, April 28 (AP).—A chilled stenographer turned the gun on his boss and himself today.

Indian War Vets. Eligible for Aid

Governor Ely today signed a bill extending the benefits of state and military aid and soldier's relief to veterans of Indian wars or campaigns.

By FRANKLIN COLLIER

Autogiro seems to solve the problem of a fool-proof plane that anybody can fly safely.

Captain Autogiro for Little Victor Jr.

"I heard cars stop in front of the house on numerous occasions," she said, "and I recognized on these Mrs. Cameron enter the back door."

This happened at least 25 or 30 times.

WIFE FIGHTS CHARGES

"Once I went into the cellar of the house with Mr. Cameron and listened in on a tapped line while she made a date with a man," Mrs. Kenney said, "I was fighting the divorce suit and has filed a counter-suit charging 'infidelity,' testified that on two occasions when she had been accused by her husband she had met men acquainted openly and for innocent reasons."

One, she said, a friend had picked her up when she was waiting for a street car and taken her to an entertainment where she was appearing as a professional saxophone player.

Again she had gone to visit an acquaintance to obtain reads for her saxophone, she testified.

"PARTY" WITH GIRLS

Another witness was Edward A. Reed, occupant of an apartment next door to that of the Camerons, who was called to the door August 20, 1929, when Mrs. Cameron was alleged "wild parties" at the Camerons.

He testified that on that night Mrs. Cameron was with a group of girls and a man.

"I went there one night," he testified, "and saw a bottle of champagne and a couple of bottles of beer, and I saw a man."

Silk Merchant Is Taken by Death

Charles H. Beattie, for a member of the firm of Beattie & McGee, silk merchants, of 29 Temple St., died today at his home, 100 Montvale ave., West Roxbury.

He was born in Boston August 25, 1868, and came to this country when young.

He was a member of the Columbian club of Worcester, Boston City club, and the Charitable Association of Boston.

He was married to Sarah P. Beattie, and four daughters survive him.

Wales to Try Role of Cattle Salesman

London, April 28.—John Bull's tale-teller will sell some fine cattle to Italians.

The Prince of Wales is to exhibit stock at the Milan Fair.

In Paris today the Prince of Wales and his brother visited President Doumergue, who sent representatives to their place to the prince will try to come tomorrow from the British Isles.

Disheartened Gold Seekers Quit Field

Mazatlan, Mexico, April 28 (AP).—Stories of great suffering among prospectors in the new gold fields near El Tambo, Sinaloa, have brought here by disheartened men who are abandoning efforts to make a fortune and are returning home.

Chilled Stenog Turns Gun on Boss and Self

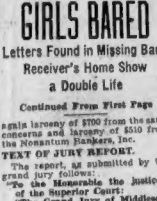

Mexico City, April 28 (AP).—A chilled stenographer turned the gun on his boss and himself today.

Indian War Vets. Eligible for Aid

Governor Ely today signed a bill extending the benefits of state and military aid and soldier's relief to veterans of Indian wars or campaigns.

Crime Career Over

Fred Burke

Fred Burke, notorious gangster and reputed machine-gun slayer of 21 persons, yesterday was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

His crime career was over today when he was sentenced to life imprisonment in connection with the killing of a policeman at St. Joseph.

GRAND JURY

Called to Meet on Hathaway

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

Grand Jury called to meet on Hathaway.

PEOPLE

Who Interest You and What They Are Doing

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

People section.

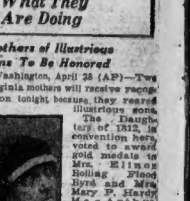

People section.

ROCKWELL KENT

Again for Greenland

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

Rockwell Kent.

WOODS BREAKS

3 Suspicious Fires in Nashua Are Investigated

By JOHN T. LAMBERT

Copyright, 1931, by the Boston Evening American

Col. Arthur Woods of New York and Boston was bound, some say, to quit as chairman of President Hoover's national unemployment commission.

The news from Washington that he will shortly leave for Europe to make an intimate study of unemployment conditions abroad was today accepted by his confidants in this city as a graceful, convenient surrender of the trying job at Washington to which he has stuck for months despite his repeated differences with President Hoover.

President Hoover is not getting along with people, including friends, willing to touch his fingernails off for him. Woods was one of them.

The former Bostonian accepted the important, difficult post as chief of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, which he held with zest and energy, but at his post 18 hours a day, week after week. The suffering which a man plays a part in brought to others caused actual grief to him.

PLAYED POLITICS

Woods has confided to Boston friends that his efforts were regularly restrained by the White House. Hoover constantly exercised a veto power over his plans. It is said his relief policy was being worked out at the White House not on the premise of how much work they might supply in men out of the country, but on their possible political effect.

The strained feeling grew to such an extent that as one of Wood's appointed lieutenants stressed the anti-Prussian policy, "Hoover's a great engineer. He ditched and drained the country in two years."

Finally, until legal requirement headquarters, this ally was circulated over W. H. H. H.

The serious break came over Boston after Woods' unemployment inquiry. Woods was informed, and he instructed them to telephone and telegraph urgent requests to the White House to President Hoover to sign the bill.

A prominent Minnesota business man who followed Woods in the White House was informed by the President's unemployment commission had urged him to veto it.

"Woods was so incensed that he was on the point of heading in the White House that the President's unemployment commission had urged him to veto it."

Woods was so incensed that he was on the point of heading in the White House that the President's unemployment commission had urged him to veto it.

Woods was so incensed that he was on the point of heading in the White House that the President's unemployment commission had urged him to veto it.

Woods was so incensed that he was on the point of heading in the White House that the President's unemployment commission had urged him to veto it.

Woods was so incensed that he was on the point of heading in the White House that the President's unemployment commission had urged him to veto it.

KIDNAPERS FREE

RICH DOCTOR

St. Louis, April 28 (AP).—The Post-Dispatch, copyrighted story, says Dr. I. D. Kelley, wealthy eye, ear, nose and throat specialist, kidnapped a week ago last night, was released by his captors today.

The release was effected the newspaper says, on a deal near East St. Louis, Ill. He was turned over to John T. Rogers, Post-Dispatch reporter, on an anonymous tip over the telephone.

The physician was unharmed, the newspaper said, and declared that as far as he knew no ransom was paid for his release.

NEW RECEIVER NAMED

The removal of the receiver Vaughan from the bank commissioner followed and a new receiver has been appointed.

"We find that the missing receiver has collected funds belonging to these two institutions," the newspaper said, "and has been appropriated by the receiver for his own use and the balance, $20,000, was used to make up his expenses in connection with other receiverships."

It is reported that the receiver for himself is divided into six different checks which he deposited to his own account. The date of the first check, this receiver began to steal money.

"The police men who have been living with the receiver for the past three years, and when he has supported, testified that they have been collecting rent for the receiver for the past three years on Boston property belonging to the other banks of which Vaughan was the receiver, amounting to $100,000."

It is reported that the receiver for himself is divided into six different checks which he deposited to his own account. The date of the first check, this receiver began to steal money.

"The police men who have been living with the receiver for the past three years, and when he has supported, testified that they have been collecting rent for the receiver for the past three years on Boston property belonging to the other banks of which Vaughan was the receiver, amounting to $100,000."

It is reported that the receiver for himself is divided into six different checks which he deposited to his own account. The date of the first check, this receiver began to steal money.

"The police men who have been living with the receiver for the past three years, and when he has supported, testified that they have been collecting rent for the receiver for the past three years on Boston property belonging to the other banks of which Vaughan was the receiver, amounting to $100,000."

It is reported that the receiver for himself is divided into six different checks which he deposited to his own account. The date of the first check, this receiver began to steal money.

"The police men who have been living with the receiver for the past three years, and when he has supported, testified that they have been collecting rent for the receiver for the past three years on Boston property belonging to the other banks of which Vaughan was the receiver, amounting to $100,000."

It is reported that the receiver for himself is divided into six different checks which he deposited to his own account. The date of the first check, this receiver began

MRS. SABIN PUT THROUGH MRS. TILTON'S GRILL

His questions on the wet and dry issue were asked Mrs. Charles H. Sabin, chairman of the Women's Organization for National Prohibition Reform, by Mrs. Elizabeth Tilton of Cambridge in a radio address at noon today through station WJLB.

Mrs. Tilton, chairman of the women's committee against repeal, spoke over a New England hook-up. She said Mrs. Jesse Middleton, chairman of the National Woman's Democratic Law Enforcement League would be glad to debate the question with Mrs. Sabin.

CALLS MOVE A "SHAM"
"How could the country return to the pre-prohibition era with 10,000 saloons and not have any?" was the first query propounded.

The second was based on Mrs. Sabin's definition of temperance as moderate drinking. She was asked if she believed teaching schoolboys and girls to drink a little was a sure way of removing the "curse" of liquor from teaching them to truly abstain.

In the third question Mrs. Sabin was asked if it had come to her attention that prohibition agitation was a "plain movement of Eastern financiers to keep the populace diverted from the real issues of oil, gas and water power."

G. O. P. OR TAMMANY?
"If the brewers and distillers should form a program to bring back the lost billions in liquor, would it not be pretty much your program for repeal and perdition?" was the fourth.

In the next Mrs. Sabin was asked if she and other wealthy Republican women desire to kill off the Republican party and put Tammany in power.

The questions concluded with a question from the Westminster report regarding industrial benefits of prohibition, and the query:

"If you believe there are real benefits to our nation, how do you propose to keep them under the pre-prohibition conditions you advocate?"

Eaton Re-elected by Sheet & Tube
Tombstown, O., April 28 (AP)—Cyrus S. Eaton and his associates, S. Livingston Mather and Hugh Wick of Cleveland, and George C. Bissard of Youngstown were re-elected to the Youngstown Sheet & Tube Company board of directors today.

There had been much speculation whether Eaton's retirement as chairman of Continental Steels, Inc., $125,000,000 investment company, might affect his status on the Sheet & Tube directors. Continental is one of the largest owners of Sheet & Tube stock.

British Fleet to Meet Germans in Kiel
London, April 28 (AP)—The Daily Express said today that a British naval force, including the battle cruisers and destroyers, had been ordered to cruise in the Baltic in June, possibly returning by way of the Kiel canal and visiting This would be the first occasion meeting of the two fleets since the World War.

LETTERS FOUND ON AN AIDE MAY TRAP SANDINO

Chicago, April 28 (AP)—Papers and letters found on the body of Pedro Blandon, one of the most trusted generals of the insurgent leader, Augusto Sandino, who has disturbed the Nicaraguan government since the earthquake, may lead to the capture of the guerrilla chief himself.

A description of the killing of the bandit's chief aide was received here today via radio from Lieut. John A. E. Young, Marine Corps aviator, who took part in the engagement and since has been recommended for the Distinguished Service Flying Cross.

Blandon was killed by two troops of the Guardia Nacional as he fled from cover of a shed in the hope of escaping across the railroad tracks at Logtown, Lieut. Young said.

Vermont Rail Head in Boston Conference
Edmund Deschamps, newly appointed general manager of the Central Vermont Railroad, conferred today with President Edward French of the Boston & Maine.

No announcement of the matters discussed could be learned, except that the discussion included a comparison of the general situations in both territories.

Deschamps expected to return to Vermont tonight.

Lady Laura Bennett Dies
St. John's, N. F., April 28 (AP)—Lady Laura Bennett, wife of Sir John Bennett, died early today.

Peter Pan Sugar Peas PER CAN
20c
Peter Pan
Corn
WHOLE GRAIN
GOLDEN BAKHAM
PER CAN
18c
FIRST NATIONAL STORES

BAKED BEANS are more delicious and digestible with GOLDEN'S
Mustard

British Fleet to Meet Germans in Kiel
London, April 28 (AP)—The Daily Express said today that a British naval force, including the battle cruisers and destroyers, had been ordered to cruise in the Baltic in June, possibly returning by way of the Kiel canal and visiting This would be the first occasion meeting of the two fleets since the World War.

Richmond Peaches
Delicious golden halves packed in rich syrup, the lowest price we have ever quoted.

Sealect Milk
Sheffield's famous unsweetened evaporated milk.

Sweet Mixed Pickles
Crisp, firm, enticing pickles. These are the famous Banquet Brand.

Dill Pickles
CRISP AND NICE SERVED WITH COLD MEATS

Sliced Beef
For Sandwiches, etc.

Molasses
Finest Light New Orleans

Fruits for Salad
Del Monte

Matches Strike Anywhere

Kirkman's Soap

Camel Cigarettes

Fluted Chocolate Bars
N.B.C. Lb

Bensdorp's Cocoa
1/2 Lb Can

Prize Bread
Baked fresh daily in our electric ovens

Kybo Coffee
Always fresh—the coffee you will be proud to serve

Pan Rolls
SPECIAL LOW PRICE—BAKED FRESH IN OUR ELECTRIC OVENS

Barley - Split Peas
Whole Green Peas

Royal Lunch - Graham
Premium Sodas

Where New England Buys Its Foods

Franconia Notch Is Buried in Snow

Concord, N. H., April 28 (AP)—Several inches of snow were reported today in Franconia Notch and in the section between Gorham and Woodstock.

There were traces of snow in Concord, and it was unusually cold for the date.

Eastern Steel Co. Goes to Bethlehem
New York, April 28 (AP)—The Bethlehem Steel Corp. has purchased the Eastern Steel Co., but the plant at Potlsville, Pa., will not be operated, it was learned at the offices of Bethlehem today.

Terms of the transaction were not disclosed.

In the Country's Meat Center
FIRST NATIONAL Standards are considered exceptionally High

The men who supply the country's meat could tell you better than anyone else, the high quality of the meats bought by First National buyers for you. Few buyers are more particular, few insist on higher standards of quality than the men who select the meat sold at your First National Store. Nowhere else can you buy meat with greater confidence in its quality.

Best cuts prime steer beef
RUMP STEAK Lb 59c

Tender fine quality
CUBE STEAK Lb 29c

Delicious, juicy prime quality
SIRLOIN STEAK Lb 49c

Boned and rolled if desired
LAMB FORES Lb 12½c

Boneless—more or pot roast
CHUCK ROASTS Lb 28c

Freshly ground—fine quality beef
HAMBURG STEAK Lb 15c

Lean short shank—mildly cured
SMOKED SHOULDERS Lb 15c

Fresh shank—dressed as desired
HADDOCK Lb 7c

Fresh sliced
COD STEAK Lb 15c

Smoked just right
FINNAN HADDIES Lb 12c

FIRST NATIONAL STORES
Where New England Buys Its Foods

Now!

Chipso

more SUDS

than ever from

Chipso Flakes or

Granules!

5¢ per package

4 SERVINGS

4 FLAVORS

5¢ per package

5¢ per package

5¢ per package

FIRST NATIONAL STORES

CHILD HEALTH WEEK

Every possible precaution is taken at your local First National Store to make sure that the foods you buy there will be always pure and fresh and of the best quality—the kind that you can safely give your children. Nothing stays on the shelves of First National Stores long enough to be anything but fresh. Exceptionally fast selling keeps new fresh stock moving in all the time. The latest, most modern methods of refrigeration, the finest of protective equipment, safeguard meats and other perishables. Buy with safety, at your First National Store.

BROOKSIDE MILK
This most important of health-building foods should be selected with particular care. Brookside milk, from the rich dairy lands of Vermont, is delivered 24 hours fresher than the average milk in greater Boston, and contains over 4% butter fat—the best measure of milk's nutritive value.

10¢ A QT.
PRICE FOR BOSTON AND VICINITY

RICHMOND PEACHES
Delicious golden halves packed in rich syrup, the lowest price we have ever quoted.

SEALECT MILK
Sheffield's famous unsweetened evaporated milk.

SWEET MIXED PICKLES
Crisp, firm, enticing pickles. These are the famous Banquet Brand.

2 Lge Cans 25¢
3 Tall Cans 20¢
QT JAR 29¢

CRISP AND NICE SERVED WITH COLD MEATS
DILL PICKLES OR SOUR MIXED QT JAR 23¢

Sliced Beef For Sandwiches, etc. 6 oz Jar 29¢ 3½ oz Jar 19¢

Molasses Finest Light New Orleans Lge Can 25¢ Sm Can 15¢

Fruits for Salad Del Monte Lge Can 33¢ Sm Can 18¢

Matches Strike Anywhere 6 Lge Pkgs 17¢

Kirkman's Soap 4 Bars 21¢

Camel Cigarettes 2 Pkgs 25¢

Fluted Chocolate Bars N.B.C. Lb 21¢

Bensdorp's Cocoa 1/2 Lb Can 35¢

Prize Bread Baked fresh daily in our electric ovens LGE 20 OZ LOAF 7¢

Kybo Coffee Always fresh—the coffee you will be proud to serve Lb Tin 29¢

PAN ROLLS SPECIAL LOW PRICE—BAKED FRESH IN OUR ELECTRIC OVENS DOZ 8¢

IN CONVENIENT CARTONS
BARLEY - SPLIT PEAS
WHOLE GREEN PEAS

Just the Thing for Your Pantry Shelves 3 16 oz Pkgs 25¢

RICHMOND RICE 3 12 oz Pkgs 25¢

FINAST TAPIOCA

N.B.C. PACKAGE CRACKERS
FLAKE BUTTERS
ROYAL LUNCH - GRAHAM
PREMIUM SODAS

Baked Fresh by the Uneeda Bakers. Lb Pkg 18¢

WHERE NEW ENGLAND BUYS ITS FOODS

BARRELS OF SOAP HOLD FATE OF THREE BOYS

Continued From First Page

waiting to hear whether they shall die in an electric chair.

John J. Oliver is on the right. His sleek black hair is combed straight back. His eyes are dark and a prominent nose. He is a chubby, 25-year-old man with a light brown peaked cap, a blue striped shirt and a soft-collared white shirt. He sits with his hands on his lap, his head lowered.

On the left is John D. Wall. Dark brown hair, also sleek, parted over the left side. His eyes are dark. His suit is Oxford gray, his tie is blue-striped. He watches the witness, his gaze intent.

BULLET THAT KILLED

Between Oliver and Wall sits Walter House, slight of build, black of hair, which is parted in the middle. He wears a gray suit, a blue figured tie, his hands are folded on one knee.

Two of these youths, the government charges, walked into Bagni's filling station at Shore Drive and Myrtle ave., Somerville, on the night of Feb. 25, while a third remained outside at the wheel of a stolen automobile.

One of these youths, the government charges, fired a revolver, fired a bullet that killed Bagni's driver, killed Bagni.

The bullet that killed Bagni is here. It is in the hands of Capt. Charles Van Amberg, state police ballistics expert.

DOG IS FORGOTTEN.

The bullet that killed the dog isn't shown. Apparently nobody concerned very much about the dog.

Capt. Van Amberg, silver of hair, high of forehead, square of jaw and dulcet of voice, offers another bullet. It was fired into the dog's head from a .38-caliber revolver.

The revolver is here. A .38-caliber of the police type. The government has sought to trace it from Wall to Green, a government witness, to Special Officer McHugh to Linn, Flanagan to Chief Thomas, to the police of the Somerville police and into Capt. Van Amberg's possession for the test.

GUN IS EXHIBITED

The firearms expert shows the firearm. A large bag with an exhibit number hangs from it. Asst. Dist. Atty. Craft shows it to the jury.

Capt. Van Amberg tells of inspecting the gun and of the soap test.

"It led me to believe that the fatal bullet was fired from this particular .38 caliber revolver." The bullet fired into the soap bears similar scars to that fired through the abdomen of Bagni, he says.

William Lewis, counsel for Oliver, adjusts his beribboned glasses and inspects the two bullets, the lethal bullet and the soap bullet.

DIFFERENCE IN BULLETS. He finds a difference. The death bullet is scored on the nose. This difference might have been caused by contact with a human body, he might, Capt. Van Amberg admits.

Bagni's widow, in black hat and red veil, does not move in her seat by the wall. Neither do Bagni's two daughters. Neither does Bagni's slight, black-haired son.

In the same row with them sit several other women. Relatives of the three accused youths.

Capt. Van Amberg displays enlarged photographs of the cylinder of the gun and of the bullets for comparison. Atty. Lewis very deliberately counts the photographs. Twenty on the first count.

QUizzED BY LEWIS

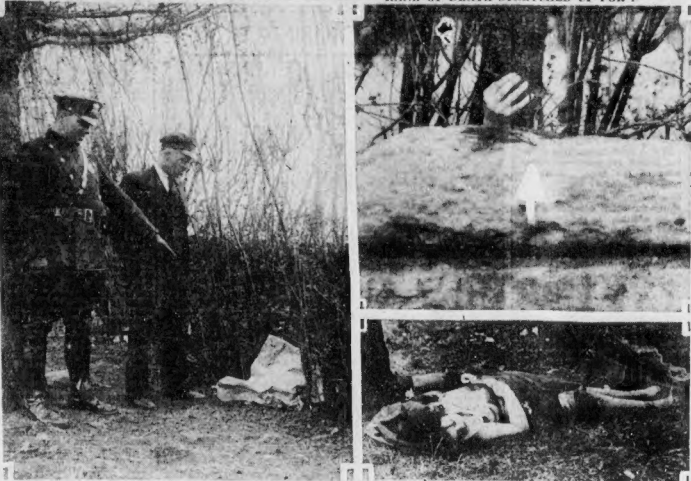

He moves to a court officer's raised seat beside the jury box the better to watch Capt. Van Amberg's illustrations to the jury. Then he starts cross-examination.

You are paid by the state, Capt. Van Amberg? Admittedly so, it's your business to show the jury was fired from this gun, says Capt. Van Amberg wouldn't say it that way. Bagni to explain. Yes or no, please, Capt. Van Amberg. If it is proper, Capt. Van Amberg will answer it yes or no. But it's not your business, captain, to decide whether it's proper.

You're an expert, Capt. Van Amberg? So regarded by some, Mr. Lewis. You admit it yourself? Capt. Van Amberg doesn't answer yes or no, starts an explanation. Oh, no.

ARROW OF FATE POINTS TO HAND STRETCHED UP IN DEATH

HAND OF DEATH STRETCHED UP FOR A3

WHERE BODY OF SLAIN BANGOR GIRL WAS TOSSED

A low quarrel that ended in a ride to death was blamed by the police for the murder of Virginia Brannen, pretty 23-year-old Bangor, Me., dance hall hostess, at Yonkers, N. Y. A hand, stretched upward in death, over a hedge and stone wall, beckoned to passersby, who discovered the body.

I don't want any speech, Lewis warns.

Lewis takes the death bullet and the test bullet. There was a second test bullet but it fell from the 17 bars of soap to a concrete floor and Capt. Van Amberg destroyed it. Atty. Lewis takes the death bullet and the test bullet, one in each hand.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Craft, anxious, declares the defense lawyer will get them mixed. Judge Gibbs advises care in order that they will not be mixed. Atty. Craft shows it to the jury.

"It leaves it to Mr. Van Amberg, the expert. I'm not touching any tracks."

JURY LOOKS AT BULLETS. Lewis shows the bullets to the jury, close up, pointing out that one has a scored nose, that the other has not. To each jurymen he shows both. The jury has John A. Foye, a millionaire soap manufacturer, as foreman.

The court room, one of the two largest in the building, is jammed. There are 25 persons within the bar enclosure. The room seats about 200, including many women. One woman enters with a boy of about 12, in knickerbockers and modish floor covering waiting a chance to get in.

Judge Gibbs rules out Oliver's alleged confession because Chief Duff at Yonkers, where her body was found, said Oliver he would do what he could for him with the district attorney.

He points out that the ruling does not apply to co-defendants Wall and House. Chief Duffery has said Wall and House corroborated Oliver's alleged confession. Lewis' son is present, aiding his father in the defense. James A. Cannon represents House. Theodore A. Fox is appearing for Wall.

The quartet of defense counsel occupies tables directly within the bar enclosure near the jury.

Fess Wires Shouse
He Won't Apologize

Washington, April 28 (UPI)—Senator Fess, G. O. P. chairman, has sent a telegram to Shouse, Democratic leader, refusing to apologize for his charge that Shouse attempted to drag the religious issue into politics in a speech in San Francisco.

The telegram was in answer to a hot one from Shouse demanding that Fess make a public apology.

Col. Ewing Dead

New Orleans, La., April 28—Col. Robert Ewing, widely known newspaper publisher and Democratic leader in the South, is dead at his home here.

BULLET-RIDDEN BODY OF GIRL VICTIM

One of her hands, caught in a hedge bordering the wall, beckoned to passersby, who discovered the body.

TRADE MADE ON WALKER UPHELD
ELI PROGRAM

An agreement has been reached on Gov. Ely's Public Buildings program by the Governor and Republican Legislature leaders, it was announced today.

The agreement, it is understood, was reached at a secret conference held at the Copley Plaza Hotel yesterday, at which were present Gov. Ely, President Gaper Bacon of the Senate, Speaker Leverett Saltonstall, of the House, Rep. Alfred F. Bigelow and Senator George Morse, the latter two, members of the Ways and Means Committee.

"As a result of the agreement which was reached, a program calling for the expenditure of $3,250,000 will be approved by both the House and the Senate."

Of this amount $500,000 will be raised from town revenue which means an increase in the State tax from $7,000,000 to $7,500,000.

The remaining $2,750,000 which is to be spent is to be raised on four-year notes.

A bill calling for the appropriation of the $2,750,000 will be read in the House late today and placed upon the calendar for action by that body. It is expected the bill will be cleared for the passage of the bill and it will ride through both the House and Senate without change.

Two Schools Entered

Lexington police are investigating break-ins at the Parker school in North Lexington, and the Hancock school.

BEWARE OF THESE SYMPTOMS

HEADACHE, Dizziness, Loss of appetite and energy. These are the warning signs of constipation. When your system is clogged-up, poisons spread over the body and undermine health.

But you can overcome this condition safely and pleasantly. Just eat two tablespoonfuls daily of Kellogg's ALL-BRAN, a delicious ready-to-eat cereal. Guaranteed to relieve both temporary and recurring constipation.

How much better than taking habit-forming laxatives.

Serve ALL-BRAN with milk or cream, fruit or honey added. Use it in cooking. ALL-BRAN supplies iron, as well, for the blood.

At all grocers, in the red-and-green package. Made by Kellogg in Battle Creek.

Kellogg's
ALL-BRAN

For Women—All-silk crepe and dresses in long or short sleeve styles with dainty fagotting, soft frilled necklines, contrasting colors and youthful surplice styles. Soft pastel prints, dark prints. Plenty of navy and black.

For Misses—Printed crepes that are soft-hued, spring-like cantons, glorious pastel chions, rough shantings that lather beautifully. Separate jackets, lingerie. Peplum detailed.

Sizes 14-20, 36-50, 16 1/2-26 1/2

$3.95

Get it in JORDAN'S BASEMENT

1200 More Women's, Misses' DeLuxe Rayon & Silk Dresses

1200 More Women's, Misses' DeLuxe Rayon & Silk Dresses

QUIZZED BY MAN IN KILLING OF BANGOR GIRL

Yonkers, N. Y., April 28 (AP)—Charles La Forta, 35, of the Bronx, who, police said, brought Virginia Brannen and Gertrude McDonald to New York from Bangor, Me., a month ago, was taken to police headquarters today for questioning. With him the police took a woman and two other men. Their identity was not revealed.

New York April 28 (UPI)—Virginia Brannen, 23-year-old dance hall hostess, was probably murdered by a jealous suitor, police said today.

The body of the girl who came to New York from Bangor, Me., seeking fame, was found yesterday near a lovers' lane in the Dunwoody section of Yonkers. She had been "taken for a ride" in daylight, shot and her body tossed behind a low stone wall bordering a Catholic sanctuary.

DEATH BECKONED

One of her hands, caught in a hedge bordering the wall, beckoned to passersby, who discovered the body.

Police today had made no arrests in the case and were doubtful as to the exact motive, although they said they believed she had been the victim of "a love quarrel."

Authorities denied there was any connection between the girl's murder and New York gangsters and vice. They said they did not think she had any suspicion either with the Seabury vice investigation and it was said she had not been called for questioning by that inquiry.

CHECK PHONE NUMBERS

It was announced that a check would be made today to determine if the girl was to have been questioned by the Seabury commission, but attorneys for that body said they did not recall her name.

The girl, who was dressed cheaply, came to New York a few weeks ago from Bangor. Her pocketbook revealed a list of telephone numbers which police were checking today.

POLICE KNOW KILLERS

Continued From Page 3

A theory held by many townspeople, because of the brutality of the crime.

Eventually, however, they hope to be able to create a "positive picture" of the slayer and then seek among all possible suspects or associates of Emily Kirk for a person whose description, physically and emotionally, tallies with the picture.

Police officials, bent on the capture of the suspects whose identity they now know, remarked that the "theorizing" was "interesting," but played no further interest therein.

Officials are unanimous in believing that it was in some remote spot that Emily Kirk was criminally attacked and shot, before she was carried to the field, a quarter of a mile from the scene of the dance.

They also believe the girl's head was battered with a rock found near the body when her attackers discovered she had survived the bullet wounds.

Mr. Rose Sullivan Dead

Mrs. Rose V. Sullivan, 64, lifelong resident of East Boston, died yesterday at her home, 22 Gladstone after a brief illness.

You simply must see our new Spring

Dunrobin

Worsted

to believe that they cost only

$30

with two trousers

The name "Dunrobin" really needs no introduction. Everybody knows that worsteds from these famous looms enjoy a degree of elegance approached by no other weaves in America. Naturally, they always travel in expensive company.

That's why we want you to see our new $30 suits, with two trousers. You'll easily recognize our Dunrobin Worsteds as being identical with the ones that are headlined in most $50 selections.

You'll see 12 new shades of gray from conservative Oxford to light Granite Tones. You'll see 10 new Spring tans, from subdued Bombay to the soft creamy Tania Tans. And a grand group of the extremely popular solid colors.

If you should wonder how we can sell suits like these for as little as $30 (with two trousers), remember that we make the clothes we sell—a mighty thrifty way of doing business for us, and for our customers.

Ten Payment Service costs nothing extra. Use it!

BOND CLOTHES

618 Washington St., at Essex
Open Saturday Evenings Until 9

Beech-Nut CREAM CRACKERS

this TENDER, CREAMY-CRISP TEXTURE IS NEW IN CRACKERS perfection itself with every soup and salad

BEACH-NUT CREAM CRACKER

ONLY 15¢

ALL-BRAN

American on the Air
A complete radio daily newspaper—55 minutes of news, markets, fashions, features, sports and special entertainment.
213 M.—STATION WAAB—1410 K. C.

8:00 A. M.—CITY EDITION OF THE AIR.
 8:30-10:15 A. M.—FEATURE PERIOD.
Mon., Wed. and Friday—Martha Lee's Homemaking Class.
Tues. and Thurs.—Ann Arden on Fashions; News; Stock Quotations.
Saturday—Feature.
 10:15-12:15 P. M.—V. D. D. STOCK QUOTATIONS; NEWS.
 2:00-2:15 P. M.—FEATURES.
Wednesdays—Uncle Ted.
 2:30-2:45 P. M.—STATE STREET EDITION OF THE AIR.
City Market Conditions; News Flash.
 3:35-6:45 P. M.—SPORTS FINAL EDITION OF THE AIR.
News Flash; Sports Results; Features.
 7:00-7:15 P. M.—CITY EDITION OF THE AIR.

For Those Who Dance		Ten High Spots
9:15-WAAB-Kibbler Music.		6:00-WAAB-Security League.
9:30-WBZA-Faul White man.		7:00-WAEE-Sandy MacFarlane.
9:45-WAAB-La Paradis hand.		7:30-WBNC-Baker Days.
10:00-WEE-Happy Wonder.		8:00-WAEE-Platino.
10:15-WEE-B. A. Roife Orchestra.		8:30-WAAB-Yankee Network Players.
10:30-WAAB-Henderson music.		9:00-WAEE-Musical Magazine.
1:15-WBZA-Clines Orchestra.		9:30-WBZA-Death Valley Days.
1:30-WAAB-King Edward Org.		10:00-WBZA-Chronicles.
1:45-WAAB-Edna Brown.		10:30-WBNC-Jester of the air.
2:00-WNAC-Cocoanut Grove music.		10:30-WNAC-Playhouse.
2:15-WBZA-Edna Brown.

Misses Doreen, Zola Brewster
 Misses Doreen, Zola Brewster

Boston Stations
1410	WAAB	213
1730	WNAC	544
990	WBZA	308
900	WEEI	608
1560	WLOE	218
1300	WVBR	218
1410	WSSH	218
970	WBOS	236

Tuesday, April 28	WLOE—Tenor; Orchestra.
4:00 P. M.	10:00 P. M.
WAAB—Italian Idyll.	WAAB—Gallagher Orchestra.
WFAA—Music Lover.	WNAC—"Mr. and Mrs."
WEEL—News; quotations.	WEZA—Chronicle.
WYDH—Nancy Lee.	WEEL—E. A. Rolfe orchestra.
4:30 P. M.	10:15 P. M.
WAAB—Italian Idyll.	WNAC—Jest for Fun, Richy Craig
WEEL—(4:20) talk.	10:30 P. M.
4:30 P. M.	WAAB—American News Flashes.
WFAA—Student Federation.	WNAC—Radio Playhouse.

FLEI—Ensemble.
 FLOE—Dance music.
 6:45 P. M.
 BZA—(4:35) "National Affairs."
 5:50 P. M.
 AAB—Frog Rock songs.
 NAC—Tent and Greater Gang.
 BZA—Junior Aviation League.
 EEI—Dental talk.
 5:15 P. M.
 AAB—Adventures in Words.
 BZA—Driv.

EL-Afternoon 1.
 5:30 P. M.
 AAB-Bert Lown music.
 AAB-Dandies.
 WBZ-12-7s.
 WBZ-12-7s Timers.
 EL-12-What Happened to Jane.
 HDH-Broadcast to fishermen.
 5:45 P. M.
 AAB-Tony's Scrapbook.
 AAB-Premium Party.
 BZA-Agricultural markets.
 WBZ-12-7s Painter.

11:15 P. M.
 WNAC-Organ; soloist.
 WBZA-Clines music.
 11:30 P. M.
 WAAB-King Edward Orchestra.
 WNAC-Cocoanut Grove music.
 12:30 MID.
 WBZ-Nelson Orchestra.
 12:30 A. M.
 WNAC-Nocturne.

Outside Stations

WJAB--Providence . . 780 KIL
WJAR--Providence . . 890 KIL

BZA—Gov. Winant. 6:30 P. M. AAB—Ballad choir: American News Flashies; Ed. Young, Yankee Philosopher. AAB—Saxaphonia. BZA—Savannah orchestra. 6:45—30 News. HDH—News. LDE—Daily Record hour; news flashies; variety program. 6:45 P. M. AAB—Witch's Orchestra. AAB—Carmel Club.	6:00 P. M. WEAN—Dramm Guild. WEAB—Big Brother League. WORS—Security League. WTAG—Big Brother League. WCSB—Big Brother League. WEAN—Rocky's Performance. WORS—Ballad orchestra. 6:05 P. M. WEAN—Bardsley scores; vocal. WEAN—News scores. WEAB—Caravan. 6:45 P. M. WEAN—Old English fantasia. WEAB—Black and white musical. WORS—Walen's orchestra. 6:50 P. M.
---	---

[illegible]

BZA—Paul Whiteman's Painters.
 EEZ—Planation.
 LOE—Musical Dialogue.
 8:35 P. M.
 YAAB—Three and Two.
 YNAC—Old Gold Readings.
 8:50 P. M.
 YAAB—Yankee Network Players.
 YNAC—H. V. Kallenborn.
 YEEA—Farm Electrification.
 YEEZ—Frollo.
 8:45 P. M.
 YNAC—Round Towers.
 YBZA—Schoolhouse.
 9:00 P. M.
 YAAB—La Paradis Band.
 YNAC—Minute Dramas.

RADIO

Tune in "Just for Fun" and get a load of laughs from the Blue Ribbon Kelti just every Tuesday night over the Columbia Cable System.

WNAC—10:15 P.M.

Entire Buylert
Hav'ing Time

"Just for Fun"
 Tuesday Night
 10:15 P.M.
 WNAC

[illegible]

on the north and runs through to Lambert's Lane on the south. Mr. and Mrs. Coulon are purchasing to

[illegible]

BOSTON-TYPE PROFPER
Helen L. D. Cronin to Jacob Ross, a four parents on Kalmouk rd.
Helen L. D. Cronin to Jacob Ross, a four parents on Kalmouk rd.
Reality Inc. to Michael P. Kelly, a parcel on Poplar St.
Helen L. D. Cronin to Jacob Ross, a four parents on Kalmouk rd.

SOUTH BOSTON
John F. Ryden to Ellen J. Lally, a parcel on John F. Ryden St.
John F. Ryden to Ellen J. Lally, a parcel on John F. Ryden St.
John F. Ryden to Ellen J. Lally, a parcel on John F. Ryden St.

DORCHESTER
Wm. N. Ambler to Bernard Kaufman, a parcel on Fourth and Good Sts.

BRIGHTON
Neil McIntosh to Katherine M. four parents on Kalmouk rd.
Neil McIntosh to Katherine M. four parents on Kalmouk rd.
Neil McIntosh to Katherine M. four parents on Kalmouk rd.

man, a parcel at Ogden and Montana sts. and Elm Hill ave., which is turn is transferred to Harold Kaufman.

Beran Leveson to Margaret Quist, a parcel on Wabeno st.

Herman L. Slack to Dorothy Barsell, a parcel on Highland st.

Wm. S. Leard Est. to Louise G. Miles, a parcel on Walnut ave.

Bro. of Locomotive Eng. Security Co. to a parcel on Erickson ave.

Summit Realty Tr. Est. to the Sav. Bank, a parcel on Warren st. in lot transferred to Garden City Garden City Co. to Newton Realty Co. a parcel on Warren st.

WINTHROP

Edgar F. Power to Lillian A.

m.); MIDDLESEX, do (do 8:30 p. m.).

Samuel H. Eubank to Louise G. Mays, a parcel on Tilleston rd.

THE LIFE
WAS T
He th

METRO.
GOLDWYN.
MAYER'S

THE SE

The
ALL
STAR
DRAMA! JEA
A George Hill.

Cosmopolitan Production STARTS

THE ANSWER TO GANG RULE IN AMERICA—

How long will it go on? How long will Americans submit? Here's a daring drama of a city which faced the muzzles of gangdom and won! Produced by the makers of "The Big House" the same director, George Hill; the same author, Frances Marion, the same star, Wallace Beery. A great picture for you.

METRO.
GOLDWYN-MAYER'S sensation—

THE SECRET

SECRET

WALLACE BEERY

LEWIS STONE
JOHN MACK BROWN

ALL
STAR
DRAMA! JOHN MACK BROWN
JEAN HARLOW-MARJORIE RAMBEAU

Friday LOEW'S STATE

STARTS Massachusetts Ave. at Norway St.

10

Watch This Directory
And Patronize
Your Neighborhood
Theatres

FEARS MISSING HUSBAND SLAIN

Worcester, April 28.—Fearing that her husband, missing since March 10, had been slain by run, runner, Mrs. Joseph Rogers, of 11 Westcott st., today sought police aid in tracing him.

The day before his disappearance, according to Mrs. Rogers, her husband declared that he was in his trucking business but had bid to affiliate himself with a "gang of bootleggers between Canada and Massachusetts." He admitted a new pistol, she said, and told her he was leaving on his first trip, after that he would return late at night.

He failed to return, and a week later, she said, she received a money order through the mail a packet of personal papers he had with him at the time of his disappearance.

For involving him in difficulties with police, Mrs. Rogers said, she kept her silent until today.

Man About Town

AL DEFFY
FREE STORY
The lady was worried to find for days for the papers to find out about the story as she was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not.

She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not.

She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not.

She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not.

She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not.

She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not.

She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not.

She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not.

She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not.

She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not.

She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not.

She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not.

She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not. She was not sure if it were true or not.

Federal Ball

Miss Catherine O'Neill, member of the ball committee of the Boston Federal Employees, local 25, who will hold their 11th annual ball at the Hotel Bradford, Saturday night.

The ball will be preceded by a banquet. (Parody.)

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

E. BOSTON FIRE MAN, 75, SAVED IN LOWELL FIRE

Newspapers saturated in banana oil furnished evidence of the incendiary origin of a fire which broke out in the basement of the two-story wooden building at 110 Hays st., East Boston, early today.

Handicapped by thick, oily smoke, rescuers were forced to wear gas masks, but succeeded in confining the blaze to the basement with a loss estimated at only $200.

District Chief Napoleon Boutlier notified the State fire marshal's office of the incendiary origin of the fire, and an investigation was started.

The first floor of the building is occupied by a barber shop and the second by the owner, Luigi G. Martini.

South Boston Man Found Dead in Field

Robert D. Smith, 44, of 214 St. St., South Boston, a laborer, collapsed and died in a field on O. st., South Boston, today. Death was due to natural causes, according to Medical Examiner Timothy J. Leary.

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

POLITICS

Notes and Gossip About People You Know

A group of friends and supporters are urging Governor's candidate, James H. Sullivan, of Charlestown, to be a candidate for Congress from that district.

Eastman Recovering

McNulty May Run for Council

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

reached the State House. Most of the requests have come from Deer Island.

TRANSFER STARTS FRIDAY

PRISONERS ASK SHIFT

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Legislature a few years ago. When Martin Lomasney of the West End was in the House, he was listened to attentively whenever he got up on his feet. The same is true today when Mr. Lomasney, Rep. John P. Higgins, and others represent that district in the Legislature.

SULLIVAN MENTIONED

PRISONERS ASK SHIFT

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Special All This Week

Nobody Loves a Skinny Woman

Gain pounds of weight in few weeks with new IRONIZED YEAST—a special combination of dried brewer's yeast plus iron—or pay nothing

Thousands are amazed at quick benefits of new Ironized Yeast. They gained pounds of good firm flesh in few weeks. Tired, weak, nervous people became peppy and strong. Blemished complexions changed to clear rosy smoothness. Constipation, indigestion disappeared. Why does Ironized Yeast work so quick?

Ironized Yeast is two tonics in one—special weight-building dried brewer's yeast and blood-enriching, strengthening iron. The yeast is the same used in making malt and which makes molasses so beneficial. It is specially cultured and concentrated to give the utmost in flesh-producing value. Double-tested for strength, purity and potency. Used by doctors and his hospitals.

This concentrated dried brewer's yeast is added three kinds of really healthful iron. It actually makes rich blood and tones up nerves and builds. By this process Ironized Yeast is made more effective than yeast or iron taken separately. Contains no harmful drugs, no harmful chemicals.

If you are underweight, nervous, tired, you suffer with indigestion, indigestion, and your complexion is mottled, blotchy and sallow. Start Ironized Yeast today. Pleasant little tablets—no nasty taste, never upset stomach or cause constipation. Never spoil, safe for all, for in any store today, ask for a full size treatment of Ironized Yeast, and take the little tablets as directed. If not delighted with quick results, your money promptly refunded by manufacturer.

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Smoke a fresh cigarette

It is the mark of a considerate hostess, by means of the Humidor Pack, to "Serve a fresh cigarette." Buy Camels by the carton—this cigarette will remain fresh in your home and office.

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

Advertisement

We Vacuum-Clean

Against the Dust and

Keep the Natural

Moisture In!

THAT'S WHY THE GREAT COUNTRY-WIDE SWITCH TO CAMELS

Since the introduction of Camels in the Humidor Pack it has taxed even our tremendous production to supply the great new demand. It seems that literally everybody is switching to Camels.

It's not because the tobacco in this cigarette is better than before. We have always used the choicest Turkish and Domestic tobacco money and long experience could buy.

The real reason, while Camel sales have been soaring to new high peaks, is that now for the first time, millions are learning what a joy a fine cigarette in prime, fresh condition can be.

Loss of moisture due to scorching or evaporation from old style packages leaves cigarettes harsh and dry.

Dryness and peppery dust are the things that plague a smoker's throat.

We vacuum-clean away the dust and wrap perfectly conditioned Camels in a special air-sealed, moisture-proof Cellophane coat to keep the natural freshness in and keep the germs out.

So now, no matter where you buy Camels, you get them in factory-fresh, mild condition. The exclusive new wrapper acts as a tiny humidor.

If you haven't tried Camels in this Humidor Pack, switch over for just one day. Then leave them tomorrow if you can.

Advertisement

FIVE ANTIMEN

By FANNIE HURST

Rarick Has a Bitter Battle with Jenny Over His Strange Guest

Sister and brother, Jennifer and Avery Rarick, as portrayed by Marion Davies and Kent Douglas in the Metro-Goldwyn Mayer talking picture made from Fannie Hurst's famous novel, "Five and Ten."

What Has Happened So Far

John G. Rarick has made millions as a chain store operator. His wife, Jenny, shortly after their marriage, lent him $2500, all she had. When he was near failure, and out of this money he built riches. But Jenny resents his far-from-imposing appearance and no longer feels real love for him. She plans the social education of their children, Jennifer and Avery. The thought is always in her mind that without her $2500 Rarick would have achieved nothing. Her goading results in Rarick's agreeing to go East and to buy a magnificent home, but secretly, he finds himself hating her. This is accentuated by his own temperamental inability to get close to his children. All their appeals to him are made through their mother. Rarick meets an odd genius, Dr. Felix Gerke, an authority on art and genes, and installs him in his house.

Now Go On with the Story

By Fannie Hurst

Whose Novels Have Given Her a Reputation as One of the Foremost of Modern Writers.

(This famous story has been made into a talking picture by Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer with Marion Davies in the leading role.)

JENNY is a kind of opposition to the invasion of Gerke and has been disconcerted with the wisdom of a certain retreat. Here was one of the times it was not good to oppose Rarick.

She had missed this scent a few times, once in particular over an apparently trivial matter that had to do with Avery and a weekend stay party of eleven school companions which she planned to have on board a motor yacht, which she was maneuvering for his father to give him on his fifteenth birthday.

For High Stakes

The idea of Avery on his own private yacht, looking it as best over eleven youngsters to whom a yacht was that day's toy, was rolling to Rarick. There had been a similar scene, not more than a month before, over a cigar-shaped roadster for Avery; but then there had been high, bitter, even more terrible words, and Rarick's foot had come down with an emphasis that Jenny somehow knew better than to protest, and Avery had not even been allowed to come home from school at Newberry over the occasion of his birthday.

There had been a matter that had to do with Jennifer, who had played high stakes beside her mother at the backseat tables of Niles and won some large enough for the papers to carry the story in headlines that had been the occasion of peremptory cablegrams for their return to America and had virtually shut off all subsequent trips abroad.

There had been the affair, too, of the young Argentinean, son of a castor-bean magnate, driving his Hispano-Suiza into the swimming pool at the Roxy, Lexington, estate. Jenny had been as outraged as Rarick, except that he went to the estate, keeping the house closed for two subsequent seasons.

A Wise Wife

There were certain well-defined limits to opposing Rarick, when there was the less trick to him because there seemed to be no way, except the intuitive one, to win against the intuitive one. He would give in on many a grand issue, such as his estate, the Pickle house, or Jennifer's fabulous string of restricted parties of Jenny's when $2000 acres of French-Canadian tract north of Quebec, through which they had built an artificial lake, a 30-room chalet, "The Chalet," and which had been opened exactly 30 days in five years. On the other hand, a trifle like a new receiver, or this matter of Dr. Gerke, would not be handled readily into the valley, or his children, and square him off for a fight.

GREATER BOSTON NEWS

75 ARE DRIVEN OUT BY AMMONIA FUMES

Saugus Rounds Up Voters at 1 A. M. to Spend a Million

CONSTABLE HAS TO TWICE HALE IN QUORUM

Longest Town Meeting, Starting on March 4, Provides Cash for High School

The most expensive and the longest town meeting in the history of Saugus was concluded early today, after the constable had been sent into the streets twice to obtain enough citizens to make a quorum.

Starting March 4 and continuing on adjournments each Monday night thereafter, the meeting concluded at 1 a. m. after more than $1,000,000 had been appropriated.

ROUNDING UP VOTERS

The length of time consumed in disposing of the articles in the warrant, and the amount of money appropriated, constituted new records for Saugus. The largest appropriation was $200,000 for a high school building.

The necessity for a quorum was raised at 10.30, after the meeting, under Moderator Frank P. Bennett, Jr., had disposed of a number of articles.

Saugus has the representative form of town meeting government, with 112 citizens required for a quorum. When the question was raised by a member a high school building, Constable W. Charles Sallick was ordered to go into the highways and bring back three voters.

He found them in a nearby restaurant, and returned triumphantly, only to find that five other members of the meeting had departed.

The constable again sallied forth and after some search, returned with the requisite number. The delay, however, resulted in the meeting lasting until well after midnight.

As a concluding gesture, the town fathers, for sentimental reasons, asked the voters to leave on the backs of two laws of Revolutionary days. One provides that a horse shall not travel at more than nine miles an hour in the street, and the other that no citizen shall pasture cattle in the public ways of Saugus.

From the first, Jenny had found the Pickle house deceptive. A Gothic library, two stories high, which ran across the entire Fifth Avenue frontage, a drawing room of enormous proportions, a Roman dining room into which you descended by Pompeian marble steps, and a glassed-in conservatory for which a breakfast room had been sacrificed as Rarick's passion for difficult and exotic transplants began to grow, left embosomed in a row of trees that raised for bed room suites.

An additional story would have marred the Hellenic grace of the building, and the owner of the adjoining pile of magnificence felt affronted, rather than tempted, by the Rarick offer to buy.

Shuns Household

The yellow suit assigned to Dr. Gerke subtracted one from the five small suites of guest-chambers that Jenny had so elaborately planned and furnished. It is true that the coming and going of Gerke, who preferred to use what was known as the service-entrance and the small rear staircase that led quite privately up to his rooms, made practically no dent in that household.

The evening before they went down to dinner, Jenny's anger bubbled up and she said to Dr. Gerke, "There's a place and a place for everything, Rarick," she said to him, as he stood together at his dining table, except that he went to the estate, keeping the house closed for two subsequent seasons.

Continued on Page 20, Column 2

SKIPPY

There were certain well-defined limits to opposing Rarick, when there was the less trick to him because there seemed to be no way, except the intuitive one, to win against the intuitive one. He would give in on many a grand issue, such as his estate, the Pickle house, or Jennifer's fabulous string of restricted parties of Jenny's when $2000 acres of French-Canadian tract north of Quebec, through which they had built an artificial lake, a 30-room chalet, "The Chalet," and which had been opened exactly 30 days in five years. On the other hand, a trifle like a new receiver, or this matter of Dr. Gerke, would not be handled readily into the valley, or his children, and square him off for a fight.

Continued on Page 20, Column 2

Continued on Page 20, Column 2

Continued on Page 20, Column 2

Continued on Page 20, Column 2

Continued on Page 20, Column 2

Continued on Page 20, Column 2

Continued on Page 20, Column 2

Continued on Page 20, Column 2

Continued on Page 20, Column 2

Continued on Page 20, Column 2

BOSTON EVENING AMERICAN

BOSTON, TUESDAY, APRIL 25, 1931

SECOND SECTION

Death Foiled by Heroism at Fire in Beachmont Block

WHERE FLAMES HELD A COSTLY DANCE
View of dance hall and banquet room in Bellows building, a Winthrop ave. (Beachmont) apartment block, after flames raced through premises today. Twenty tenants of building were driven to street, and neighbors forced to flee homes when fire threatened to spread.
Firemen from seven other cities and towns aided in fighting the flames which caused an estimated damage of $75,000. (Staff photos.)

'PEN' SUSPECT FOUND SANE

Declared sane after three weeks' observation at the Psychopathic Hospital, Philip J. McCarthy, Black Bay youth, was returned to municipal court today to face charges of writing "poison pen" letters to Mayor Curley and other prominent Bostonians.

McCarthy, according to police, confessed after his arrest on April 13 that he had written the letters.

The youth waived examination and was held in $1000 for the grand jury.

Teacher in Service 35 Years to Retire

After 35 years of service in the public schools, Principal Arthur J. Doe of the Western Junior High School, Norwell, will retire at the completion of the present school year, he announced today.

He came to the Norwell school in September of 1897. Before that he had served in Palmyra, Wrentham, and one company from East Boston came to the aid of Revere.

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Halts Runaway FISHERMAN IS SAVED BY CREW

When the steam trawler Princeton pulled up at the Fish pier in South Boston today with 22,000 pounds of fish, his mates introduced Bimoon Crockett, 48, of Quincy, father of three children, as "the luckiest fish of all."

Crockett, at midnight last Wednesday, while the trawler was rolling in a heavy swell on Western Bank, 12 miles southeast of Nantucket, was tossed off the vessel's deck.

Weighted down with heavy slicker and rubber boots and unable to swim, Crockett went far into the depths of the murky sea, called there the graveyard of the North Atlantic.

He still held in the drawings of the trawler that was being hauled, however, and when he bobbed up to the surface again, his mates pulled him a line and dragged him back aboard.

Crockett grinned when questioned about his experience today. "Aw, it was all in the day's work," he said, "I don't want the wife and kids to know about it. They might be foolish and worry some."

After a night in a cell following his inability to pay a $2 restaurant bill, Crockett was released, charged with larceny of food, and taken to the Municipal court today charged with larceny of food.

Domestic DeCan, restaurant owner, preferred the charge after he learned Crockett was unable to pay for the food.

Charles J. Muse, an inviolate, was carried out of the blaring structure by her son, Joseph. Her husband and another son, John, made their way out unharmed.

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

FOUR NEIGHBORS FLEE

The flames leaped high into the air and the wind sent a shower of sparks flying through the neighborhood. Some 40 persons, residents of Unity ave., were ordered to leave their homes until the danger had been removed.

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Girl Can't Pay Cafe Bill; Jailed for Night

After a night in a cell following her inability to pay a $2 restaurant bill, Crockett was released, charged with larceny of food, and taken to the Municipal court today charged with larceny of food.

Domestic DeCan, restaurant owner, preferred the charge after he learned Crockett was unable to pay for the food.

Charles J. Muse, an inviolate, was carried out of the blaring structure by her son, Joseph. Her husband and another son, John, made their way out unharmed.

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

FUMES FORCE 75 TO FLEE BUILDING

Employees of a Fish Pier Concern Escape Unharmed as Tank Bursts

Seventy-five employees were driven to the street when an ammonia tank burst and filled with fumes the refrigerator plant of a fish company in Northern ave., opposite Fish Pier, today.

Emergency calls brought firemen equipped with gas masks and police ambulances to the scene, but all employees got out of the building safely.

The break occurred at lunch time when half of the 150 workers were outside.

It was discovered by Foreman Walter Brown, who ran through the building, ordering everyone out. Ammonia fumes swept through the structure in waves, penetrating every room except the offices on the first floor.

Twenty-five thousand pounds of fish on the floor, being prepared for refrigeration, were baled in the great times and may be a total loss.

Workers wearing gas masks began repairs at once.

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

Continued on Page 2, Column 1

FORMER HUB WOMAN POISONED BEFORE SHE SHOT HUSBAND

TUCSON POLICE LAY SHOOTING TO JEALOUSY

Traces of Deadly Drug Found in Rich Wife's Veins; She Is Held in $5000

Police in Tucson, Ariz., today were investigating the shooting of Thomas K. Marshall, 60, and a report that his wife, a semi-invalid, may have been the victim of a poison plot.

Marshall was wounded dangerously by five shots yesterday. Mrs. Marshall, 61, the owner of real estate valued at $500,000, was placed under $5000 bonds and charged with assault with intent to kill, discharges from Tucson today decided.

Mrs. Marshall, who went from Boston to Tucson in 1908 as Miss Louise Houser to teach in the University of Arizona and in 1904 married Marshall, a student, refused to comment.

County Atty. Hall in Tucson said Marshall attributed the shooting to jealousy. At the same time Hall said a test of Mrs. Marshall's blood by the county chemist revealed traces of poison.

Hall said Marshall told him his wife accused him of associating with their housekeeper, whom she had discharged, and admitted Mrs. Marshall complained someone was trying to poison her.

Mrs. Marshall taught Latin, French and botany at the University of Arizona. She entrusted Marshall, a student, with the raising of her property, and commissions paid his salary. They were married after his graduation.

In the Limelight at Middlesex Grand Jury Probe of Bank Case

A. T. ANZELL JAMES DANGELO

TESTIFIED AT HEARING
James Dangelo and A. T. Anzellotti of Worcester, former secretary of the East Cambridge Courthouse where the affairs of the Nonantum Bankers Co. were profiting from the disappearance of Guy L. Vaughan, receiver for five closed banks. The inquiry closed today.

MRS. ANGELINA DE-CICCO MISS MARY BLUNDA

VAUGHAN'S AIDES CALLED
Mrs. Angelina DeCicco of Worcester, former secretary to Vaughan, and Miss Mary Blunda, his present secretary, were among the many persons summoned by the Middlesex grand jury in its probe of the closed banks' affairs. (Staff photo.)

ARTHUR H. GIV

CAMERA SHY—WHY?
Bank Commissioner Arthur Guy was trapped by a cameraman after a little chase but even then tried to cover his face. Guy issued a statement defending his office and today was called unfit for it.

GURLEY TAG TIP ENRICHES GIRL WITH $15

A parking tag last week caused quite a stir in the city and enriched a Chelsea girl by $15.

The tag happened to be on the automobile of Mayor Gurley, and Miss Sally Treisman of 129 Burtlett st., Chelsea, considered it new. It was, and the Boston Evening American was nearly two hours ahead of its rivals in telling the public the details in story and pictures. Miss Treisman won first prize in the weekly news tip contest for her alertness.

Second prize for the week went to one whose name must be withheld. The story was the revealing that a Dorchester woman had disclaimed her children in a will filed in Suffolk Probate Court. A check for $10 to the tipster in the result.

POLE CRASH WINS $5
The third capital prize of the week goes to Thomas Walsh of 313 Concord ave., Cambridge, who rushed right to the telephone when wooden poles crashed into Mt. Auburn st., Cambridge, and wrecked the traffic routes in that district. It was another best for this newspaper.

E. T. Leary, 21 Wellesley ave., East Boston, escaped after from Brighton captured in Cambridge.

Mrs. W. A. Morely, 8 Seymour st., Roslindale, filed at Waltham st. and Hyde Park ave., when truck backed.

OTHER GOOD TIPS
Winfield, Steamer ground off Graves Light.

Samuel Davis, 33 Essex st., Revere, Three-year-old child victim of fall of three stories.

Samuel Lebow, 32 McAllan st., Dorchester, Escapes of an unhealed man, Harpvard Relief Station.

Timothy Finnan, 396 Broadway, Somerville, Suicide of Medford bank clerk.

Miss Ann Dimer, 374 Bevin Hill ave., Dorchester, Trucks stuck under El structures at Northampton st.

W. E. Chase, 48 Wright st., Stoneham, Two-story fire.

Henry Ureasky, 390 Blue Hill av., Roxbury, Aid on a story.

Freeman Knowlton, 96 Summer Franklin, Franklin warehouse fire.

You may see a parking tag, you may know that a will or a night suit on some kind of news this week.

Open eyes and ears and the thought to call the News Tip Editor at Liberty 300 to let you know if you possess the three qualifications.

NEWSBOYS FLY TO NEW YORK
With a copy of today's issue of each Boston newspaper, three Boston newsboys' members of the Boston Newsboys' Foundation took flight from the East Boston Airport for New York, to take the greetings of Boston Newsboysville to Mayor Walker, in New York.

The three boys were Warren Reardon, a Harvard student, George Porter and Claude Turner. The plane was piloted by Charles A. Loring.

Today's flight was a part of the program of the Newsboys' week proclaimed by Gov. Ely. The party will visit Philadelphia tomorrow.

BULOVA
BULOVA means the correct time

Visit our Store and see our complete presentation of Bulova watches and electric clocks. Here you buy them at the national price, on our Convenient Payment Plan.

CASTORIA
When a child is fretful and irritable, seems distressed and uncomfortable, can't play, can't sleep, it is a pretty sure sign that something is wrong. Right here is where Castoria fits into a child's scheme—the very purpose for which it was formulated years ago! A few drops and the condition which caused the trouble is righted; comfort quickly brings restful sleep.

Nothing can take the place of Castoria for children; it's perfectly harmless, yet always effective. For the protection of your wee ones—for your own peace of mind—keep this old reliable preparation always on hand. But don't keep it just for emergencies; let it be an every-day aid. Its gentle action will ease and soothe the infant who cannot sleep in more liberal doses it will effect.

LE-N-O-X
JEWELRY CO.
Bulova Watch and Clock Distributors
Boston
Cambridge

INTERNATIONAL FREE RUNNING SALT

5¢ A PKG.

37.50

11 Dime-a-Week
"Liberty" Bagette
(Contains 1000 grains of salt)

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

Dance Leaders DOROTHY DILLON

MRS. MCARDLE
Miss Dorothy Dillon and Mrs. M. J. McArdle are members of committees arranging dance and reception of Holy Name Catholic Club tomorrow night at Hotel Kenmore.

Unidentified Man Stricken
An unidentified man was found suffering from internal hemorrhages at the Boston Elevated Railway waiting booth on Spring st., near the Charles river, West Roxbury last night.

NEWSIES OF THE CLOUDS

SALEM ELOPERS FORGIVEN

MODEL ALTAR GIFT TO GIRL

Two Suspects Held in Attempted Break

Chelsea Man Held in Tech Check Case

Can't PLAY Can't REST

—child needs Castoria

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

BLIND AIDED BY 'MECHANIC EYE'

New and virtually unlimited literary fields for the sightless are opened by the newly perfected invention of a Cambridge scientist.

Robert E. Naumberg, the inventor, today demonstrated the new "mechanical eye" to delegates to the World Conference for the Blind at his home at 40 Meadow way, Cambridge.

The "Printing Visagraph," under which name Naumberg expects to market the machine at a price within the reach of the blind of moderate circumstances, instantly transcribes ordinary print into raised letters of the Braille type.

The principle of the visagraph is that of the typewriter. Minute fingers of light move over the surface of the printed page, registering their impressions of black print and white space on a magnifying surface which, in turn, transmits impulses to a special mechanism which instantly records the shape of the letters in raised dots on a thin sheet of aluminum.

The delegates, from institutions of the blind all over the world, declared the device to be the most effective substitute for actual vision they have encountered in their tour of inspection of world cities for the sightless.

Following the inspection of the invention, the delegates attended a reception tendered them by Gov. Ely at the State House, and a luncheon by Mayor Curley at the City Hall.

This evening they leave for New York.

IT'S A GIFT AND IT'S ART

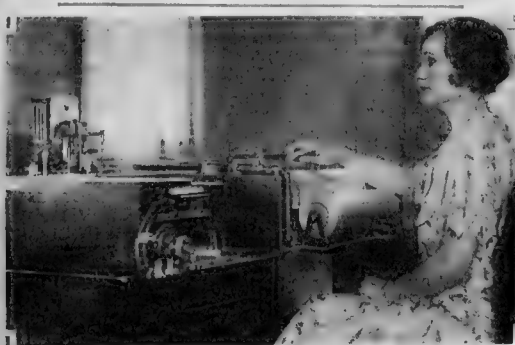

GEORGE W. TRIPP Mayor Murphy

CHARLES F. MORAN BARBARA MURPHY

A Catholic church altar in miniature built by members of the mechanical force of Somerville fire department was presented today to Barbara Murphy, seven-year-old daughter of Mayor John J. Murphy, in Somerville City Hall. Master Mechanic George W. Tripp and Charles Moran made the presentation in behalf of themselves and Everett Bray, who helped construct the gift. (Staff photo.)

SHE READS BY NEW MECHANICAL EYE

Edith Milner, blind student at the Perkins Institute, is shown here reading by means of the mechanical eye. This invention of Robert E. Naumberg, a Cambridge scientist, instantly raises letters on a thin aluminum sheet as rays of light move over the printed page. These raised letters are recognized by the blind reader by touch, opening a wide literary field that has hitherto been closed to the blind. (Staff photo.)

SALEM ELOPERS FORGIVEN

Salem, April 25—Edith Heckman, 15, returned to her home at 29 Appleton st., today after an absence of a week, and informed her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles C. Heckman, that she was married. She said she eloped with Carl H. Carman, 20, son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles H. Carman of 21 Ocean ter., to Portsmouth, N. H., on April 4, her 16th birthday.

The couple were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Charles Chapman, and intended to keep their marriage secret for a time after their return home.

However, the bride's desire to be with her husband, led her to leave home last Wednesday, without notifying her parents. When she learned that police aid had been invoked in seeking her, she returned and was forgiven.

The young couple will make their home with the bride's parents.

MODEL ALTAR GIFT TO GIRL

A two-foot model of a Roman Catholic Church altar was presented today to Miss Barbara Tripp Murphy, seven-year-old daughter of Mayor John J. Murphy of Somerville today by three members of the mechanical department of the Somerville fire department.

The model, complete in every detail, was constructed by Master Mechanic George W. Tripp, Everett Bray and Charles Moran, in their spare time during the past three weeks.

In accepting the gift, Mayor Murphy congratulated the builders for their skill and artistry. The miniature altar is 22 inches wide at the base, 20 inches wide at the top, and is constructed entirely of wood, fastened with glue and brads. It is finished in gold and white.

Two Suspects Held in Attempted Break

Patrolman Mark Fay, of the Roxbury Crossing station, noted the number of an automobile early today, and later was instrumental in the arrest of two men as suspicious persons as a result of an attempted robbery in a chain store on Highland st., Roxbury.

The break was discovered by Mrs. Bianche Busby and her daughter, Cells, of Centre st., Roxbury, who were awakened by the sound of crashing glass. When they notified the police, Officer Fay remembered the car he saw cruising in the neighborhood. The registration was traced, and the two men arrested.

Chelsea Man Held in Tech Check Case

Mary Reasick, 25, of Washington ave., Chelsea, whom Cambridge police believe to be the man who victimized the bureau's office at M. E. T. last January of more than $160, was arrested by Sgt. Inspector John C. Nellan of Cambridge, on charges of forging and of defrauding of checks.

NEWSIES OF THE CLOUDS

GEORGE PORTER WARREN REARDON

George Porter and Warren Reardon, two Boston newsboys, who flew from here to New York today to present copies of local newspapers to Mayor James Walker. The boys are shown with papers they took along their aerial route. The trip was made as a part of the Newsboys' Week.

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

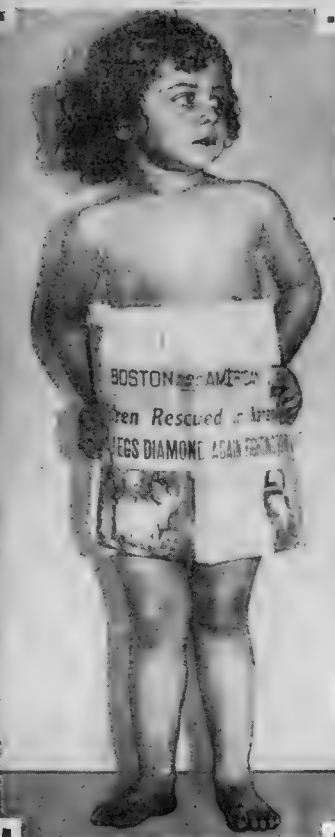

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

CASTORIA

MAYOR DECLARES CITY IS WILLING TO BUILD STRANDWAY

Boston Health Units Will Share in National Health Day Doings

"How Dry I Am." You could call it "That Old Gang of Mine." At least you see how happy Dominic Catalini, Joseph Catalini, Lawrence Glove and Dominic Catalini are, as a result of the efficient care they get at the West End Health Center. (Staff photo.)

HEALTH DAY TO BE OBSERVED

Child health day will be observed throughout the nation next Friday by proclamation of President Hoover.

The health authorities of Boston and Massachusetts will co-operate in making the day a success.

Among the events scheduled are radio addresses by Governor Ely and Mayor Curley, in which the work being done by city and state for the welfare of children will be stressed.

GOVERNOR TO SPEAK

Governor Ely will speak over Station WBZ at 1 p. m., while Mayor Curley will address the radio audience over Station WNBC at 12:30 p. m.

Among the things that Mayor Curley will tell the radio audience is the work being done by Dr. George T. O'Connell, deputy health commissioner, director of the division of tuberculosis, city health units in West End, North End, Charlestown, East Boston, South Boston and Roxbury districts.

On these roads, which are planned with quartz glass which allows the ultra violet rays of the sun to penetrate, 375 young children are cared for daily. They are fed three times daily and given a rest cure to build up their undernourished bodies.

OPEN HOUSE AT UNITS

Mercury quartz lamps give the needed "sunshine" to the enfeebled bodies when the sun does not shine. Open house will be held at all city health units Friday and Saturday.

Commissioner Dr. Francis X. Mahoney invites the public to inspect them.

In addition to the programs being arranged for Friday by the city and state health authorities, the Boy's Club of Boston is responding to President Hoover's proclamation by holding open houses in their clubhouses in Roxbury and Charlestown for the 11,047 members. Child Health Day posters are being displayed at both clubhouses to impress the boys.

BOARD OF FARM BOARD ENDED

The government is asked to discontinue all participation in private business, and especially in abolishing the Federal Farm Board, resolutions adopted today by the Boston Fruit and Produce Exchange.

"This exchange now believes the time has come for it to speak in no uncertain language as to its attitude upon the anti-American and unethical activity that has been indulged in," the official report of the meeting states.

"The exchange cannot see any beneficial results for agriculture in general but does see the blight cast upon the distributing end of agriculture, with loss, ruin and extermination of business, liquidation and enormous release of working hands."

Boy and Man Held for R.I. Firebug Plot

Providence, April 28 (AP)—With the arrest of two persons, one a boy 16, who admitted he expected pay for setting a fire, authorities today were investigating the possibility of a brokerage in incendiary that may account for more than a score of suspicious fires in this city since January 3.

The boy said a man gave him a key a recent house where a fire occurred last night and said he would be paid for his "work."

HER FIANCE LOST AT SEA

Miss Mary Turner, 28, of Forest St., Melrose, is still hopeful that some word will come of Capt. George J. Levin, also of Melrose, whom she was to have married this June. Capt. Levin was reportedly mysteriously missing from the bridge of his ship in Oriental waters.

LOST CAPTAIN ENGAGED

Capt. George Joseph Levin, Melrose skipper, reported mysteriously missing from the bridge of his ship in Oriental waters, was coming this June to take a Melrose bride.

Fireman Gives Blood to Andover Woman

Lawrence, April 28—John Barry, driver of Engine 3, one of seven volunteers from the fire department, today gave a pint of his blood to Mrs. Mary Dobson, 44, of 124 Beverly St., North Andover.

The woman's condition was so critical that officials of the Lawrence General Hospital sent out a call for blood donors this morning, and the firemen responded. The fireman's condition was reported improved after the transfusion.

WOULD CARRY OUT PLAN IN EAST BOSTON

Asks Right to Spend $1,000,000 Outside of Present Debt Limit

Mayor Curley today informed the House ways and means committee that Boston will undertake the construction of the proposed strandway in East Boston if given authority to expend for that purpose $1,000,000 outside the debt limit.

The bill before the committee is to be considered the way being taken by the State to exercise the highway fund.

OUTLINE'S PROJECT

However, when it was pointed out by Representative William B. Baker, acting chairman of the committee, that all but approximately $700,000 of the highway fund has been contracted for and that bills calling for further expenditures two or three times in excess of the balance are before the committee, the mayor made his proposition to undertake the work alone.

The strandway would run along the waterfront, from World War Memorial Park at or near the terminus of Neptune Rd., and over public and private land eastward to the location of the Boston, Revere Beach & Lynn Railroad and along for adjacent to Bayview station point in Boston at westerly of the bridge over the lake line.

The mayor pointed out that the city has expended $75,000 on World War Memorial Park, about $250,000 in developing the airport, and $100,000 now being spent for the tunnel. Further, he said, it is to be built to 100 feet from the tunnel portal.

WOULD AID DISTRICT

A similar development in the South Boston section, he said, has resulted in unprecedented realty development. Land which could be purchased at about 10 cents a foot is now being sold at 100 cents a foot.

The East Boston strandway development, the mayor said, will include a beach, a playground and a new bridge.

The project will provide world benefit, the section from a health and recreation standpoint and more than pay for itself in increased valuations, the mayor added.

GOODWIN FLAYS NEW AUTO BILL

An attack on the proposed act to repeal the compulsory automobile insurance law was made today by Frank A. Goodwin, chairman of the Boston Finance Committee.

"I think this bill is the worst thing ever attempted to be put across on any State," said Goodwin, who is a former registrar of motor vehicles.

The bill would substitute financial responsibility and a demerit system for the present compulsory insurance.

"This is a harlequin bill," he asserted, "a jumbled-up mess of all bills for the best interests of the insurance companies. The United Insurance companies want to do away with in Massachusetts is the fixing of rates."

"I think his rate in Massachusetts are too high, but if you put this bill on the books, you'll pay too more. All this talk about the demerit bill being a safety measure is pure humbug."

"When it comes to safety, there is no comparison between Massachusetts under compulsory insurance, and other states with their various financial responsibility and demerit systems."

Ex-Mayor Fitzgerald Recovering Rapidly

Former Mayor John F. Fitzgerald, who has been convalescing following an attack of bronchial pneumonia at his home, 28 W. 38th St., in New Rochelle, is reported as showing considerable improvement.

What can be done with Life Insurance

(3) Planning an Income for Old Age

SPENDING or saving all must be done in the light of active work and retire. Who would not like to find that his retirement income is secure in period of his life?

We need to think actively along these lines in planning retirement, and to be made funds regularly, and to have sufficient income at that time to take care of ourselves adequately. The future period of life would need to be understood.

The John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company offers Life Insurance or Annuity contracts, adaptable to any circumstances, and is thus ready to help you in a financial plan of the future.

ALL SUITS $1 AND PLAIN SILK DRESSES cleaned—pressed—renewed 1 phone call will bring our service to your door

Arlington—2604 Malden—2218 Mystic—1804

HEALTH CLINIC VINCENT BATES, M.D., Director 40 Washington St., Tel. 733 Office Hours: 10 A. M. to 5 P. M.

UNIVERSITY 3940

CROSS TORN OFF CHURCH

Diagram shows route of heavy metal cross which fell from Sacred Heart Church, Mt. Auburn St., Watertown, and crashed through the steps of the church as result of heavy winds which lashed Boston and vicinity yesterday. The photographs were made by Joseph Crupi, 11 Keith St., Watertown, who brought them to the Boston American office, in an effort to win one of the many prizes in the weekly News Tip Contest.

WOOD ALCOHOL KILLS 208

Wood alcohol and synthetic methanol, used in anti-freeze solutions, caused 208 deaths in the nation during the winter, 14 in Massachusetts, including six in South Boston, according to a report of the Bureau of Industrial Alcohol at Washington today.

According to Commissioner Donahue, there may have been more deaths from the same cause, but the 208 deaths have been checked and certified.

The deaths, attended by almost instant paralysis of the optic nerve and convulsions, included eight at Pittsfield, 15 near Los Angeles, 10 in the Greenboro, N. C. district, and 10 at Chester, Md.

We have no control over the sale of wood alcohol or synthetic methanol," said Commissioner Donahue, "we urge individual states to enact laws providing more stringent control."

FACTORY AGAIN HIT BY FIRE

A score of men and women, employees of the James J. Graham Paper Co., on Otis st., Cambridge, 50 today when fire for the second time in a week threatened the building.

The fire, believed to have been spontaneous combustion, was in the rear on the first floor and filled the building with smoke. The damage was $500.

A week ago more than a score of women were overcome at a fire in the building.

George Cartwright, 21, of Bray Hall, Cambridge, a Harvard student, was arrested in the Newton court on charges of drunkenness and driving while under the influence of liquor and was held for a hearing May 6.

Advertisement

SUGAR CLAIMS ATTENTION OF CLEVER COOKS

When Sugar is Combined With Salt It Makes a Fine Seasoning

It is surprising how widely sugar can be used in the seasoning of food. As a matter of fact some cooks keep a mixture of sugar and salt within reach to season meat and vegetable dishes. The proportions vary, although equal parts of each will cover most needs.

Salt alone overcomes bitterness in meats and vegetables. When a dash of sugar is added, the flavor is rendered out to a trivial count. Remember a briny vegetable does not taste as a vegetable until it is sweetened. Finally, the salt is a treasured and rare. The result was delicious.

French dressings are also improved by adding sugar because it blends the salt and vinegar into a smooth, rich product. Most foods are more delicious with sugar. The Sugar Institute.

John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company

"THIS MATTER OF SUCCESS"

Our Sales Representatives in Boston

John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company

21

Our Sales Representatives in Boston

John Hancock Mutual Life Insurance Company

21

Friday is National Child Health Day, by proclamation of President Hoover. The City of Boston will take part in this celebration by special work at the West End health meet, in Blossom st. Above is Frances Catalini, the clinics "Cupid" whose health has been restored by the efficient work of the city medical attaches. (Staff photo.)

Flees Prison Camp Boston police are seeking Ernest Lee, 43, of 908 New Boston rd., Fall River, who staged a successful prison break at the Norfolk State prison yesterday.

Site Picked for School The $1,000,000 Swampscott High School will be erected on Forest ave., it was voted last night at a town meeting.

NEW FIRE DEPUTY AT POST

Louis C. L. Stickle, new deputy fire chief promoted yesterday from district chief, received many congratulations and floral tributes today as he took up his new duties in Fort Hill sq. station. Stickle lives at 128 Neponset ave., Dorchester, has been in the Boston fire department 24 years and district chief since 1927. (Staff photo.)

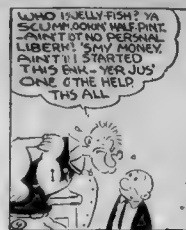

THIMBLE THEATER Starring POPEYE

Now Showing—"A Natural Born Comedian"

Tomorrow—"Lend Me an Ear"

By Segar

A Full Page
POPEYE
Comic Appears Every Saturday in BOSTON
AMERICAN Watch For It

KRAZY KAT

"My Kingdom for a Horse"

COOK-COOS

By TED COOK

Universal Studios have sent a man on a tour of leading universities to pick out likely young students who will be offered scholarships in motion picture training. Why not try an exchange plan—send collegians to the studios and send film executives to college?

If the film executives went to college they'd soon gain control and have the professors in literature rewriting Shakespeare.

"Men owe a lot to women," says editorial, "but they do not seem to realize it."

A lot of alimony.

Success No. 3156

This is Miller Cline, who has perfected a chewing gum that attracts gold filices. Cline will obtain a concession to distribute sticks of his gum to patients who enter drug stores. He will then salvage the gum found under soda fountain counters, and sell it to the U. S. Smelting Corporation.

Cop remark, 1928—
"Fall in your cars, we're coming to a halt."

And in spite of all that's been said, passing laws continues to be the great national pastime. They're even doing it now to attract the tourists.

Milestones on the path to civilization—
Alma McPherson, while in Stoddard, purchased a hula hula skirt and an instruction book for hula dancing. "I want to understand women of the East," she said.

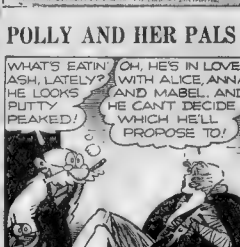

FAMOUS LAST WORDS
Now I'll show you how to disarm a thief who has threatened you with a drawn revolver.

Make way, please.

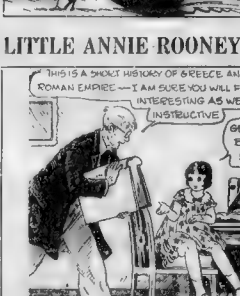

BRINGING UP FATHER

TIM TYLER'S FLYING LUCK

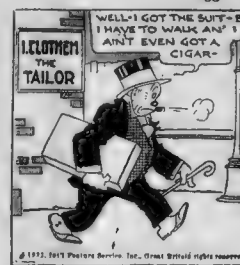

POLLY AND HER PALS

LITTLE ANNIE ROONEY

Jiggs Solve the Problem

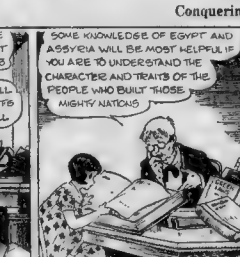

A Rolling Stone That Gathers Moss

SUCH POPULARITY MUST BE DESERVED

CLIFF STERRETT

CONQUERING THE CONQUEROR

IT'S NO PARTY FOR BARNEY

BY GEORGE MCMANUS

BY LYM YOUNG

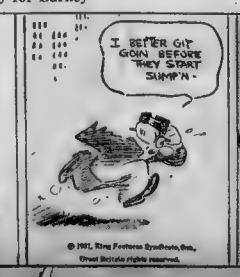

BY CLIFF STERRETT

BY DARRELL MCCLURE

BY DE BECK

BARNEY GOOGLE

BOSTON STOCKS ARE WORKED TO NEW LOWS

Stock prices were worked to new low levels in today's dealings of the Boston Stock Exchange. The list as a whole was only moderately lower in early trading, but losses were extended as the session progressed. Changes ranged from fractions to 5 points or more.

Issues touching new low figures included, in descending order, and preferred, American Pneumatic first preferred, Penn Railroad, S. D. Warren, Shawmut Association, United Gas Co., United Foundries and Vermont & Massachusetts Street Railway.

Mining, Uranium, Steel and quandary, ending this week dipped to a new low and Hathaway B touched its previous low for the year. Losses of a point or more were shown for Boston Personal Property, Eastern Gas & Fuel, General Electric, General Capital, Mohawk, Old Colony and Utility Equity preferred. Railway Light & Security dropped 8 points.

	P
	High	Low	Close	Chg
Pacific Mills...	18	18	18
Packard	7 1/4	7 1/4	7 1/4	- 1/4
Penn R R ...	5 1/4	5 1/4	5 1/4	- 1/4
Pub Util xw..	5	5	5	total

	Q
Quincy	7	6	7	net

	R
Radio Corp ...	17 1/4	15 1/4	16 1/4	- 1/4
Radio K O ..	17 1/4	17 1/4	17 1/4	- 1/4
Rwy & Lt Sec	40	40	40	- 5

	S
St Louis ...	17 1/4	17 1/4	17 1/4	- 1/4

St Mary	7	6½	7
S D Warren	40	40	40 - 15
Shawmut	12½	11½	12½ + 4
Std Brands	17	16½	16½ - 4
Stone & Webster	35	37½	39 + ½
T
Torrington	42½	41½	41½ - ½
Tower	50c	50c	50c + 10c
U
Un Gas Co	7½	7½	7½ - ½
Un Aircraft	26½	24½	26½ - ½
Un Carbide	54½	51½	51½ - 2½
Un Corp	21½	20½	21½ + ½
Un Founders	6½	6½	6½ + ½
United Fruit	57	57	57

Un G&Mpf.	291	28	28	1
United Shoe.	60	50	50	1
Un Shoe pf.	313	31	31	1
U S Steel.	128	12	12	1
Utah Metal.	35	35	35	1
Util Equit pf.	77	77	77	1
V
Venez'la-Mex.	1	1	1	1
Vt & Mass	118	118	118	1
W
Waith W pr pf	80	80	80	1
Warner Pict.	83	7	7	1
Warren Bro.	29	27	29	1
Westfield Mfg.	23	23	23	1
Westinghse.	63	61	63	1
BONDS
American S. S.	74	74	74	1

AmRadCo 5e...	101%	101%	101%
N E Tel 5e...	101%	101%	101%
Asso Elec 8e...	97%	97%	97%
K C M & B 5e	100	100	100

★

T NK of N

ed Profits

d Largest on

★

1931 to date, 217,138,255
1930 to date, 328,661,170
1929 to date, 372,720,150

		Sales		Complaints					Bar
Bo	103			Epse	Exp	Low	Cases	Guest
		Shell U.S. Oil	13600	5%	5%	5%	5%	5%
		Shubert (Ind.)	1000	12	12	12	12	12
		Summa	Comp.	12	12	12	12	12
		S. Summ. Pet.	2000	6	6	6	6	6
		Sinclair Oil	100	5%	5%	5%	5%	5%
		Sinclair O. of	100	5%	5%	5%	5%	5%
		Skelly (H)	1000	5%	5%	5%	5%	5%
		Stand. Pack.	100	2	2	2	2	2
50		Std. A. of w.	100	8%	8%	8%	8%	8%
		Std. B. of w.	100	25	25	25	25	25
		So P. R. R.	200	11%	11%	10%	11%	11%
		So P. R. R. of	10	10%	10%	10%	10%	10%
		So Pacific	7100	24%	24%	24%	24%	24%
		So. E. W.	100	25	25	25	25	25
		So. E. W. With	200	7%	7%	7%	7%	7%
		So. E. W. Sta	100	8	8	8	8	8

4	40	Stam. Planes ..	5100	68%	68%	68%	68%	68%	68%
		Stan Gas of ..		63	63	62	63	63
		Stan Ins Corp ..		2%	2%	2%	2%	2%
3	30	Stan Oil Co ..	76000	24%	24%	24%	24%	24%
		Stan Oil ..		11	11	11	11	11
1	2%	Stan Oil of NJ	37500	3%	3%	3%	3%	3%
1	63	Stan Oil N.Y.	19500	17%	18	17	18	17
1	20	Sterling Sec ..	100	7%	7%	7%	7%	7%
		St. Paul ..		100	7%	7%	7%	7%
		St. Paul Sec ..		100	34	34	34	34
		Stewart & War ..		124	12%	12	12	12
		St. Louis ..		26%	26	26	26	26
1	2%	Studebaker ..	7300	19%	19%	18	20	19
2	60	Superheater ..	8500	30	30	30	30	30
		Sun Oil of ..		9%	9%	9%	9%	9%
		Sun Oil ..	1400	9%	9%	9%	9%	9%
		Superior Steel ..		9	9	9	9	9
		Svingman A ..	400	3	3	3	3	3

[illegible]

		U
1	1.60	Union & Corp.	600	14	14	14	14	-1
5	1	United States	1000	51	54	50	51
2	50	Union Carb.	65000	34	34	43	49	-4
2	1	Oil Cal.	10200	14	14	14	16	-1
10	1	Union Pacific	161	162	161	163	+2
1	1	Union Pac. of	500	84	85	84	85	+1
1	60	Union Tank	13.0	21	21	21	21
3	1	United Air & T	30500	78	78	24	25	-1

	Un Carbon.....	2300	15%	15%	13%	14%	-	-
	United Carrier.....	2000	5%	5%	5%	5%	-	-
.75	United Corp., 54000	21%	2%	2%	2%	2%	-	-
	Univ. of Ill.	10	30	30	48%	49%	-	-
	Un Wyndwood.....	10	3	3
	Un Elise Coal.....	800	7%	7%	7%	7%	-	-
	Un Fruit.....	50	57	57	56%	56%	-	-
1.20	Un Gas Imp., 39700	200	10%	10%	10%	10%	-	-
	Un Gt. Pk.....	800	104%	104%	104%	103%	-	-
	Un Paper B.....	100	2%	2%	2%	2%	-	-
2	Un Piece Dye.....	300	25%	25%	25%	24%	-	-
1.20	Un S Free & F.....	100	17%	17%	17%	17%	+	+
	Un S Distrib.....	100	84%	84%	84%	84%	-	-
	Un S & F Spft.....	100	84%	84%	84%	84%	-	-
	Un S Hoffman.....	100	40%	40%	40%	40%	+	+
1.50	Un S Ind A.....	100	40%	40%	40%	40%	+	+
	Un S Ind Alo.....	100	40%	40%	40%	40%	+	+

1	U S Leather	300	6	6	5	5	+	+
2	U S Leath A	100	9	9	9	9	+	+
	U S Rubber	100	19	19	19	19	+	+
	U S Rubber of	401	22	13	21	21	+	+
1	U S Smelting	2000	17	17	16	16	-	-
3.50	U S Small pr	209	46	46	46	46	-	-
7	U S Steel	50100	124	125	122	124	-	-
	U S Steel of	300	148	148	148	148	-	-
	United Stores	200	6	6	6	6	-	-
	United Str of	500	48	48	47	47	-	-
	Univ Leaf To	600	34	34	34	34	-	-
8	Univ Pile 1 of	20	32	32	32	32	-	-
	Universal Pipe	500	2	2	2	2	-	-

2.15. UTI P & L A. 18000		20%	21%	20%	21%	+
V
.. Vadaco Sales...		4%	1%	3%	4%	-1%
.. Vanadium		40%	40%	38%	39%	-1%
.. Va Car C pf.	300	10%	10%	10%	10%	..
.. Va Elec 6 pc of	30	107%	107%	107%	107%	..
.. Vulcan Det..	220	47%	48%	47%	48%	+1%
W

..	Wabash		12	12	12	12
..	Wabash P. A.		400	26	25	25	- 1/2
1.50	Walbridge		1400	21	24	24	21
..	Walworth Co.		6	8	8	8	+
..	Ward Bak B.		1600	4	4	4	+
7	Ward Bak pf.		39	39	39	39	- 2
..	Warner Bros.		30500	4	8	7	7 1/2
..	Warrs Quinlan		1200	4	4	3	3 1/2
3	Warrs Bros.		4	24	28	29	+
..	Warrs Br pf.		10	42	42	41	+ 2
..	Warrs P & F		100	22	22	22	22 1/2
2	Wesson O & S		700	22	22	22	- 1/2
..	Wesson cv pf.		500	55	55	55	- 1/2
7	W P E A		80	105	105	104

[illegible]

	Whl & L E pf	80	70	70	70	+ %
	White Motor.	700	17%	17%	17%	- %
50%	White Rock..	200	40	40%	40	+ 1%
	White S M pf.	100	8	8	8	- %
	Wilson G & O	100	6%	6%	6%	- %
	Wilson Ov'd.	100	5	5	5	- %
	Wilson Co A.	300	2	2%	2	- %
	Wilson & Co A	300	5	4%	4%	%
	Wilson & Co Df	200	28%	26%	27%	+ 1
2, 40	Woolworth ..	13500	58%	59%	59%	+ 1%
	Worth Pump.	20800	63%	64%	62	- 1%

Y		Z
2	Yale & Towne 100	21 3/4	23 3/4
	Yellow Tr R 10000	9 10	9 4
3	Youngs S & W 100	19 1/2	19 1/2
Z
..	Zenith Radio... 200	2 1/2	3 + 1/4
	Call Money...	1 1/2	1 1/2

ADVICE TO INVESTORS IS FREE

If you buy or sell stocks or bonds, you ought to be unbiassed expert advice. Send your investment card with stamp to Frank H. Meloon, Financial Editor, Boston Evening American & Winthrop Street.

MORE FOR BONDS
 Boston—On your advice I invested $2000 in Steneck and am well pleased. I want to invest an additional similar bonds. What do you suggest?
 —Buy $2000 Lawyers' Title and Guaranty 5/8s, 10 annually. They are guaranteed as to principal credit and rank with the issues you have already

WOMEN TO COMPETE IN THE 1932 OLYMPIC GAMES

SOMETHING BESIDES BUM LEG FOR BABE TO WORRY ABOUT

FANNING

—With GEORGE UNDERWOOD
Newsboys' Week.
Give 'Em a Hand.
Aunt W. A. Brady.

A Newsboy Who Ruled the Sports World

TO THOSE WHO may not think this comes under the head of sport turn to the old Webster. "Sport, That which diversifies; pastime; amusement." You'll get plenty of sport at the big musical show and exhibition the newsboys of Boston are putting on at Burroughs Newsboys Foundation, 10 Somerset st., tomorrow and Friday nights.

If we had a dollar for every theatrical star who came up from Newspaper Row we'd be owning newspapers, not writing for 'em. Many a newsboy of today has become the leading boxer, ball player and sports star of the morrow. The news has moved into other and broader fields, too.

Governor Fiv has proclaimed this Newsboys' Week throughout Massachusetts. So, if you can, attend the newsboys' musical revue and give them a hand. The money you pay will be devoted to the support of the Burroughs Newsboys Foundation, which is "dedicated to bridging the great gap between the street life of the newsboy and his future responsibilities," deserves a helping hand from all of us. Games, sportsmen and sporting men, come across for the Newsies!

AT 12 YEARS of age William A. Brady's father died and left little Billy an orphan, stranded, friendless and penniless in New York. To start little Bill sold newspapers. On cold nights he slept on the pavements, but he was a great winner. The news rose to rule the realm of sport. He was the Ted Richard of his era. For two decades he was New York's sports promoter, directing practically all of the big prize fights, wrestling matches, bare-knuckle and other sporting events held in the metropolis. He was more to old Madison Square Garden than Tex Rickard was to the ring.

Long after Brady retired from sport and devoted his energies to the theater he was a power behind the sports arena. It was Brady who engineered the Dempsey-Carpenter match and launched the Golden Age of Boxing. Brady and Charlie Cochran, the London theatrical producer, brought Dempsey and Carpenter together and then sold out to Tex Rickard. Tex Rickard gets credit for the million-dollar sales. The million-dollar sales never would have come, however, if Bill Brady had not conceived the idea of matching Dempsey and Carpenter. It was the Dempsey-Carpenter match that gave modern boxing its greatest impetus.

The Dempsey-Carpenter match, conceived and originated by the former newsboy, Billy Brady, "made" the Madison Square Garden Corporation. Without it, news never would have been the new Madison Square Garden, or the Boston Garden, the Detroit Arena or the other sporting enterprises the great sports corporation directly or indirectly is interested in.

AS A NEWSBOY Billy Brady showed plenty of the muscle, which enterprises that later gained him world-wide recognition. Here is how Billy Brady made his first "big" money. In the early days of old Madison Square Garden and its precursor, Gilmore's Garden, there was no inebriated hookups with newspapermen. Reporters covering important events in the old Garden had to buy down to Park Row, which then housed practically all of the New York newspapers, to write their stories. Very frequently they missed editions. News often appeared two days late.

Brady, then a Park Row newsboy, conceived the idea of a "Newsday Express," modeled after the "Punch" of London. He landed together a group of newsies, stationed one every three blocks between old Madison Square Garden and Park Row.

The reporter would hand his copy to one of Brady's newsies at the ring or inside in old Madison Square Garden. That newsie would run three blocks and give the copy to another newsie and it would be relayed from hand to hand in three blocks "up" until it reached Park Row.

"The first time I put that Newsday Express into operation," says Brady, "I made $150. I split $100 among my crew and kept fifty for myself. They considered themselves well paid for each of them made five times as much as he would have peddling papers. That $50 I kept for myself was big money in those days. It taught me how to use my brain and make other work for me."

Brady's Newsday Express idea helped sport in many ways. It gained space for sport in the newspapers. Events the newspapers had been dismissing with a few paragraphs soon were given a whole column. Instead of a column of sport the newspapers began to give a whole page to sport. From a page the sports space grew to the enormous amount given it by the newspapers of the present time. More space, more money. Billy Brady and his Newsday Express helped many others besides himself and his own newsboy "gang."

BILLY BRADY now in his 70s has been looking over fights and fighting men for a long time. He handled Jim Corbett, the winning fight with John L. Sullivan and has been at the ringside at almost every other important heavyweight championship since. What the former newsboy thinks of the modern heavyweight lineup should be interesting.

"The game needs another Dempsey. He was as good a fighter as Sullivan and a bigger box-office magnet," Brady says. "The biggest box-office attraction, in fact, that giant titan may develop into the greatest fighter of them all. Dempsey, only ten years younger, has two years' experience. It takes six to build the average heavyweight, although James J. Jeffries matured into full fighting strength much sooner."

"Schmeling? He never will be any better than he was, and that wasn't good enough to beat Sharkey. Why your Boston Saltonman made the German look like a novice until that man terminated by an alleged title. Schmeling? He's on the downgrade, not the up. He never was a high class ring man."

Brady, like other fighters, never is wrong," concluded Brady, growing philosophical. "It's at the end time. The tide now will turn against him. One of the greatest fighters in the world, the Dempsey will come along and you will get a three-million-dollar prize. Every day we're getting bigger and better. The old world never stands still. It moves on a schedule of progress and evolution."

CHUCK KLEIN SERVED NOTICE ON BOTH THE BABE AND HACK BY FIRING TWO HOMERS IN HIS STARTING GAME.

HACK WILSON WAS VOTED MOST VALUABLE PLAYER IN THE N.L. LAST YEAR—BUT THE RECORD BOOKS HAND KLEIN THE HONOR.

SLUGGING PER-687
250 TOTAL
100 TOTAL
100 TOTAL
59 DOUBLES 40 HOMERS

CHUCK HAD CONTRACT TROUBLE AND WON'T GET STARTING TRAINING. HIS PLAYING TO DATE MAKES ONE WONDER IF SPRING TRAINING HELPS.

WE LED THE N.L. OUT-FIELDERS IN TOTAL FIELDING CHANCES AND HIS ASSISTANTS ARE A BRAND NEW RECORD.

THOMAS-CP

Women to Compete in Olympics; Barred From 800 Metres

Barcelona, Spain, April 28 (INS)—All issues in dispute before the Olympic Games Congress here, including the theory one of women's participation in the 1932 Olympic games at Los Angeles, have been decided upon. William M. Gariand, American representative, informed International News Service today.

"The program of events calling for women athletes' participation in certain track and field events is being unanimously accepted," Gariand said. "Women will participate in the 800 metres relay race, the 400 metres hurdles, 100 metres sprint, the discus and javelin throw, the high jump and fencing."

"The Olympic committee limited the list of events because it was considered too strenuous an event for women."

The only decision still pending before the congress is where to hold the next Olympic games, in 1936.

The decision to permit women to participate in track and field events at the Los Angeles games represent a victory for the International Federation of Amateur Athletes, as the program being adopted is virtually that sponsored by this body.

Previously it had been reported that the Olympic committee had decided to limit women's participation in the events at Los Angeles to tennis and yachting.

New Haven, April 27—Arthur Brisbane, noted editor, today advised Yale men, in an article in the Yale Daily News, to develop sustained mental concentration. He declared that men are often spoiled by their own success and stop short.

He said: "The mental qualities, not the muscle, everything depends, in the end, upon the mind. It is the mind that is the upper part of his head, above his ears and eyes. If his physical health is developed and his egoism not developed by athletic success, that youth should be very useful, and not likely to be killed by his own success."

The probability is that in the crowd watching him on the day of his triumph, there was some weaned Yale student, incapable of any athletic achievement, but capable of something more difficult—sustained mental concentration."

New Hampshire Nine Defeats Colby, 2 to 0. Durham, N. H., April 28.—The University of New Hampshire baseball team opened its season by defeating Colby, 2 to 0, yesterday.

The Wildcats scored in the second. The wind carried Chase's hit in an error and scored when Hedden threw a second in an attempt to make a double play.

Colby's only run came in the third. The wind carried Chase's hit in an error and scored when Hedden threw a second in an attempt to make a double play.

Colby's only run came in the third. The wind carried Chase's hit in an error and scored when Hedden threw a second in an attempt to make a double play.

Colby's only run came in the third. The wind carried Chase's hit in an error and scored when Hedden threw a second in an attempt to make a double play.

SALEK, MADDEN VICTORS IN NATIONALS

New York, April 28.—One hundred and fifty-five amateur boxers from all parts of the United States, two from Montreal and six from Hawaii, lined up at Madison Square Garden last night for the preliminary bouts of the annual national boxing championship of the Amateur Athletic Union which drew about 10,000 people.

It was the first time in 30 years that the championships were held here, Boston always being graced with the big show.

Twenty-eight bouts were drawn for tonight, with 42 carded for both tomorrow and Wednesday and the finals of 24 bouts on Thursday.

Save Salek of Boston won by a technical knockout after 45 seconds of the second from Sam Daddzio of Newark, N. J., in the 135-pound class. Right from the opening bell, the Boston boy was on top of his Jersey rival and Salek smacked Daddzio all over the ring.

After going down for a nine count, Daddzio rallied strongly with a vicious one-two, but was behind when the round ended. The Jerseyman was fired again soon after the second canto opened for eight and after being dropped immediately on arising, the referee stopped the fight.

Dick Madden, 175 pounder of Boston, scored a spectacular knockout over Charlie Ricks of Fairfax, Ala., in 1:57 of the first round after flogging the Southerner three times for two, four and two counts, before putting over the laymaker.

What the Stars Did Harry Belafonte, Braves—Pitched 100 to top of National League with 2 to 0 victory over Philadelphia Athletics.

Bob Marlin and George Mauer, Red Sox—Made up for his previous day's lapse on the job by stalling three batters.

Then made by Prof. Dickinson: If the babe were lined up as to make 1000 holes one-eighth of an inch square, and each of the three balls were lined up in the center of one of these squares the center of another, there would be more than 1,000,000,000,000 arrangements of balls on the table.

Also if a player could make one of these shots every second and play night and day, it would require more than 2,000,000,000 years to make all the shots.

THE MAJORITY DEMANDS GILLETTE

Always Great in Quality always leading in sales

SUPREME quality—acknowledged by more than a hundred million men and proved day after day in more than a hundred million razors—has made Gillette the overwhelming leader in every nation. From industrial Pittsburgh to gay Paris this blade is predominantly first choice of the vast majority.

Twenty-nine years of arduous research plus exacting care in every detail of manufacture and inspection guarantee unequalled satisfaction when you shave with the Gillette blade. Keep scientific minds are dedicated solely to the task of maintaining outstanding quality leadership.

In the opinion of most men the world over Gillette shave is unparalleled for comfort and convenience. Light, swift strokes—entirely free from harshness or irritation—soothe and refresh the face. Double edges of remarkable keenness give you double shaving service—double economy, comfort and satisfaction.

Always ahead in quality—always far ahead in sales—Gillette shaves the face of the world—holds the lead everywhere. For absolute assurance of unsurpassed shaving performance and economy—most men consistently ask for Gillette when they need razor blades.

Gillette

RAZORS Gillette BLADES

Advertise Your Wants in the Boston Evening American

TUESDAY, APRIL 28, 1931

Fallacy in Wage Cuts

Shallow thinkers are seeking to convince the country that wage cuts constitute a panacea which will cure our economic ills. As a matter of fact, the slackness of current trade is in large measure a reflex of the shrunken purchasing power of the wage earners.

Tollers have already had a fifth of their money income clipped off through unemployment, part-time employment and a shading of wage rates.

The average in weekly earnings in the bituminous coal industry, for example, has declined 90 per cent in the last year. To the extent that such reductions in the aggregate income of labor reduce consumer purchasing power, they are retarding—not accelerating—business recovery.

The mandate of the times is plainly for reduction of costs through the elimination of economic waste. But wage cuts are loaded in so far as they indirectly tend to raise costs in numerous instances.

Reduction of consumer purchasing, which is the inevitable result of cuts in real wages, tends to increase the unit cost of production. Reduced volume raises the factor of overhead in production costs, and vitiates the significantly cheapening influence of mass production.

Propagandists for "deflating" labor willfully belaud the issue.

Light on the subject has been shed by Dr. Leo Wolman, of the National Bureau of Economic Research and economic advisor to the Amalgamated Clothing Workers of America, who pointed out:

"Particularly in a period when the aggregate volume of business has dropped so sharply as it has in 1930 and 1931, we tend to underestimate the effect of a variety of fixed overhead charges and to exaggerate the importance of such a known factor as wages. Whenever output is reduced, the fixed overhead cost per unit of its output rises, as it has in many American industries. It is plainly impossible to compensate for the lost revenue in unit overhead costs by any conceivable adjustments in wages. The only solution for that condition is an increase in the volume of business and, hence, of output."

Better business will come from frugal spending, and it is ridiculous to assume that American consumers will loosen their pursestrings if their income is further reduced through a policy of wage slashing.

The deliberate wrecking of American standards of living is a poor friend of the business man.

Rally in the Market

STOCKS

STOCKS

STOCKS

By T. E. Powers

Two Women, Two Worlds

Civilized and Barbarous Are Contrasted Here

QUEEN MARY OF ENGLAND IN COURT DRESS

These two pictures are interesting, each in itself, and putting them together by way of contrast, showing how far apart different branches of the human race are, makes them still more interesting. Above is the Queen of England, regal, dignified in the dress in which she receives at Court.

It may interest you to know that "Courts" will be held on May 19th, 20th, June 9th and 10th. Her Majesty wears "The Order of the Garter," highest of all the honors that the English Empire can bestow, not as high, however, as the honor that any man may win for himself by real work.

The Queen also wears some of her handsome jewels and carries a beautiful painted fan. She is a good Queen and it is a pleasure to know that she is happy, has good clothes and that the fine example she sets is appreciated all over the world.

The other woman, a poor little bride of the savage tribe of Bugis, presents a sharp contrast to the Queen in her glory. The bride is carried on her father's shoulder, and is heavily "doped" with some barbarous drug.

DRUGGED BRIDE OF THE SAVAGE TRIBE OF BUGIS CARRIED ON HER FATHER'S SHOULDER

Among those savages the rule of decency requires that the bride should not touch her foot to the ground, raise her eyes or look upon the face of a man throughout her marriage ceremony. She does not look even at her own husband until the ceremony ends.

That would take a good deal of self-control, so the father makes sure that his daughter will act her part well by drugging her so thoroughly that she cannot stand and her heavy eyes are nodding. He carries her on his shoulder, climbs down the bamboo ladder from his hut in the air, with his girl held as you see in the picture.

He carries her constantly until the wedding is ended. The young person walking proudly beside the father is the groom. You would think he would refuse to have his bride drugged. But OUSUM is all powerful.

There are places in South America where the barbarous bridegroom, as a sign that he is here, puts his wife's head against the trunk of a tree, on his wedding day, and knocks out two of her front teeth, to which she doesn't object. Everybody thinks that is correct. In other countries married women must dye their teeth black.

Let us be grateful that we are "highly civilized." But let us also endeavor to remember our own defects while contemplating the "mores" of our neighbor's eyes.

Come to New England!

Invite Your Friends to Enjoy Summer Delights

We are on the eve of another vacation season. New England possesses natural attractions unsurpassed on this continent, unexceeded in any other portion of the world.

We have a famous seacoast, with magnificent beaches and a background of fertile valleys, river lakes and rugged, attractive mountains. We have, for the most part, excellent highways. We have comfortable hotels and well-appointed summer camps. We have a cool, delightful summer climate.

Our tourist and vacation traffic has mounted to the proportions of a major industry. Every New Englander derives his share, at least indirectly, of this summer business.

We can make as much use of it as we choose. Suppose we adopt the former course, at least once in our lives. Let's pull together from now on.

If every citizen of New England would constitute himself a committee of one to postcard or message the attractions of New England as a summer vacationland to some friends or acquaintances elsewhere in this country, or to supply them with any of the available pamphlets and advertising matter, his efforts would bear more fruit than he can now imagine. What we all need is a lot of California or Florida co-operation spirit.

Those Refuse Heaps

Acres of empty tin cans, discarded autos, furniture and other refuse loom up here and there in the outskirts of Boston. Is there not some device for destroying or utilizing this domestic refuse, standing like monuments in many a vacant lot of Greater Boston?

The solution calls for genius.

Men Teachers to Make Men

By WINIFRED BLACK

WHAT'S THE matter with the women of America? It is their fault that the American boy is growing up to be either a slacker or a tough.

It is A. Shuler, director of educational activities at San Quentin prison, says it is.

What is needed in our system is more masculine teaching situation. "A little more strong, stern rule—that's what we want."

"We've flattered our overgrown boys in the high school system. They don't need school marmas and Latin grammars."

"America is being feminized so fast that we don't realize what's happening."

"We'll have to put men into our schools to work boys to turn out into regular men."

Ab, indeed, Mr. Shuler—Well, what is the matter with the American father, may I ask?

In England, you never go out on the sidewalk early or late without seeing some black, middle-aged man going somewhere with his boy.

They talk man talk, and a boy has a chance to learn what men really mean when they talk about "standards."

Listen, World! :: Blighters

By ELSIE ROBINSON

Some Are Easy to Detect

THERE ARE many varieties of ornery humans in this world, all of them blighters. But the ornierest and the blightiest of them all is the Benevolent Blighter.

Now the Regular Blighter is easy to detect. He's an obvious part of a concealed carper, with nothing to his eye and a snarl to his nose which you can recognize a block away. And if you linger around and let him make life miserable for you, it's your own fault.

But the Benevolent Blighter is another matter. Gently or slyly, he'll backbite! Not he. Such tactics are beneath him. In fact, you can see at a glance that all human beings are beneath him.

For his career is that of a Visiting Board of Directors. Or of an intimate friend of one of the members of a superior sort of an intimate friend—but most kindly.

His courtesy . . . his concern for your welfare . . . is exquisite. And, at first, you're tickled pink by his flattering attentions. You babble on, telling him all your secret desires and dreams. He listens gravely—nods with appreciation and understanding. Your spirit mounts. Here, at last, is a congenial soul! You expand. You confess certain small matters. You boast. You explain how you do things.

And then—the Benevolent Blighter begins to do his stuff. It's only a word. A careful, most considerate word. A mere suggestion, concerning your way of Doing Things. The slightest mention of how He, Himself, Does Things . . . how People Who Know Do Things. Do Things better than you do them.

Only a word . . . a helpful word . . . surely a friendly word? For you can see he's right. Yes, that is a better way of doing things. Then why aren't you glad that you haven't learned this better way? Why aren't you grateful to him for telling you about it? You ought to be ashamed of yourself—getting all smoked up just because he gives you a little advice! You ARE ashamed. It's great of him to be so interested . . . to be so willing to help . . .

Again you warm to your subject. And again—a little sooner this time—the Benevolent Blighter breaks in. Yes, indeed, you have some good ideas—so commendably admits. But after all, you want to do the thing right.

Then he's off. Word by word he tears your notions to pieces and substitutes his own. No mean words, mind you. No open, cruel criticism. Dignified, amiable syllables, every one of them. But how do you feel when he's through?

You feel like 20 cents! AND THAT'S EXACTLY HOW HE WANTED YOU TO FEEL.

For the Benevolent Blighter has but one desire—TO MAKE HIMSELF FEEL BIG BY MAKING YOU FEEL LITTLE. His benevolence is but a mask for his malice and conceit. He isn't trying to help you. He's just trying to make you feel cheap by strutting his superior stuff. And if you have in atom of sense, you'll call him bluff.

(Copyright, 1931, King Features Synd., Inc.)

The Marry-Go-Round

By HELEN ROWLAND

Road to Ruin

THE ROAD to Ruin is paved with Never again.

At this moment, it is somewhat necessary for even the most hard-boiled business man to remind himself several times a day that his pretty stenographer is just a part of the office machinery.

Many a man who couldn't be so efficient a modern girl has been crushed into it by an unscrupling little dumb-bell.

This is the time of year, when even the most business-like girl has her weaker moments, when she secretly longs to be just a "useless ornament" in some man's life.

A reformer is a person who has mistaken his liver for his conscience. He drops for his religion, and his prejudices for his politics.

Rouge may be taxed as a "luxury," but the lipstick is the auxiliary.

(Copyright, 1931, by The Boston Herald-Examiner.)

New York Day by Day

By O. O. McINTYRE

Favorites on the Rialto

NEW YORK, April 28.—The Rialto, despite a skimpy year, managed to squeeze out a batch of new favorites, chief of which is Lou Holtz's find, Lydia Robert, the Polish maid with pulled lily hair and sky blue eyes. She was a war widow, bobbing about in the old world—telling of a girl from the p.o.v. of a Russian.

Her Polish accent, plus a charming naïveté to win a husky huzzah. She has only a few lines and a song, but she made them h'm. Another dandy came out of Russia. She is Eugene Leonovitch who in "Grand Union" was lifted to the heights largely by a realistic telephone conversation.

Ginger Rogers is a Texas village red-head, dewy with girlish freshness, who quite ran away with the crowd and it is not improbable that she will be the Broadway horizon.

Jimmy Durante for several years has been a rowdy knockabout comic in the cheaper cabaret, with a chorus as Clayton, Jackson and Duranto. Clayton and Jackson are merely foils for his rough-housing antics. Durante became the high spot of an all star cast in "The New Yorkers."

He is without pretensions—jovial vulgarian whose clownings are built for the most part around his extraordinarily large nose or scarred face. Yet underneath it all is a Chaplinesque witfulness. Audiences have been feeling that shimmer among their guifwings shimmer a salty tear.

Ever Norvello is a comparative newcomer, a New York lad who appeared in his own play with Billie Burke. Enthusiasts had him as an embryo Noel Coward. There is also that magnificent English enchanter, Heccher Marshall, and the superb vaudevillians—Burns and Brown.

While it has been a bright season for names hitherto little known, many of the old standbys have endured a seasonal eclipse. Quite a number opened and closed on Broadway within a week. But it is this sudden descents and ascents that glimmer the Rialto and the marvel. Sudden winners in a dead season.

Incidentally, one producer withdrawing an opera after a few days' run, noticed the press: "The phenomenon of the indifference of the public, this close season last year."

There was one luminous connection at the old Knickerbocker that glinted even in the surrounding darkness. It was called a "Cold Appleton"—a jigger of brandy shaken from a trapped crowd of months and served in delicately flanged silver cups, fairly dripping frosty globules. Flaring on top was a bright cherry tucked in a sprig of mint. They were 60 cents a copy. Two and you melted to a boy for the house or became a nasty and got shapely in the face with a sour bar rag.

They were discussing a certain writer noted for slovenly attire. One gentleman said that while he read him regularly he found him wishy-washy. "He may be wishy," observed Edwin Cobb, "but never thought him overly wishy."

And that reminds me a young enthusiast in Denver writes today to me what I regard as the three essentials of writing. Without much thought and saving a stamp, I reply: No. 1—A pencil. No. 2—A sheet of paper. No. 3—an idea.

P. S. Don't get hooked up over No. 3. Many get along fairly well without it. Or have you noticed?

The Grand Duchess Marie, despite the bracers of her royal regalia, seems to fit into her avenue sales job nicely. In the salon where she waits on trade I asked her a question, recognizing her from her pictures with a start when she replied: "I don't know what she said. Indeed I cannot recall what I asked her. Duchesses affect me that way."

Copyright, 1931, King Features Synd., Inc.

What Do You Know?

Mark statements as "true" or "false."

1. The American flag had 13 stars in 1777.

2. The United States declared war against Central Powers in 1918.

3. The United States Military Academy is located at Annapolis.

4. The Coast Guard operates under the Navy Department.

5. A census is the flow on ships and small boats.

6. Ambler is found in cattle.

7. The Yankee Stadium is in St. Louis.

8. The fundamental unit of metric length is the kilogram.

9. Mount Whitney is in California.

10. The abbreviation A. D. means "before Christ."

11. War of the Revolution 1786-1787.

12. Spanish-American War 1900-1901.

13. Expedition to Mexico 1775-1783.

14. Shay's Rebellion 1898-1902.

15. Boxer Insurrection 1915.

Answers to today's test:

1. True. 2. False. 3. True. 4. False. 5. True. 6. True. 7. False. 8. True. 9. True. 10. True. 11. True. 12. True. 13. True. 14. True. 15. True.

(Copyright, 1931, King Features Synd., Inc.)